The three act comedy, "The Colonel's Maid" was given under the direction of the Young Women's Club. Those taking part were: J. Ellis Gammons, Kenneth W. Wilson, George E. Nicholson, Martha G. Condit, Margaret Wheaton, Chester E. Howe, Clinton W. Kyle and John W. Condit. Owen's Orchestra provided the music. The ushers were the Misses Gladys W. Epps, Vera E. Rumery, Helen Cunningham, Bertha E. Blampied, Evelyn Cunningham and Marion W. Dean. Candy was for sale under the direction of the Misses Louise Belcher, Dorothy M. Vee and Alice Fesenden. The business manager, for the Young Women's Club, was J. Ellis Gammons; stage manager, John W. CALEB STARK CHAPTER.

The entertainment given by the Caleb Stark Chapter, Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, at the Hunnewell Club in Newton, last Saturday afternoon was a great success financially as well as socially. There was a large attendance of young folk, who enjoyed the dancing after the plays. About sixty dollars was cleared. This little chapter has worked hard under the charge of Miss Marion D. Tucker, the director, and its many friends helped in making the year close successfully. Miss Tucker, who has worked to such good purpose in this Junior branch of the Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R., has resigned, much to the regret of all who are interested, and who have been gratified for the chapter's growth and prosperity while under her charge.

OBSERVES NINETY-FIFTH BIRTHDAY.

John Souther, the oldest living iron manufacturer in the United States, and the inventor of the steam shovel, observed the ninety-fifth anniversary of his birth Wednesday at his home on Fairmont avenue, Newton. During the day he received many gifts of flowers, as well as messages from distant friends and in the afternoon a number of acquaintances called at his home to congratulate him. Mr. Souther is in excellent health and, when the weather permits, drives daily. He was born in Boston and was a pupil in the first class of the old Hawes School. He served his apprenticeship in the Algiers foundry at South Boston and when seventeen years old made the patterns for the iron fence around Boston Common, a part of this fence being in use today. He continued in active business for sixty years, retiring in 1881. Mr. Souther has lived in Newton fifteen years and has a wide circle of friends.

NEW LIGHT ON OLD PROBLEMS.

The Lecture Committee of the church of the New Jerusalem, Highland avenue, Newtonville, is announcing another interesting course of lectures to be given in the church on the evenings of four Sundays, beginning March 19th, and on the afternoon of Sunday, March 12th. The title of the evening course is "New Light on Old Problems", and the object of the lectures will be to outline the distinctive views of the church on such vital topics as "Business", "Marriage", "Children" and "The Bible". The "Swedishborgian" Church, as it is usually called, has something to offer on all the subjects that will be absolutely new to most hearers, and these lectures cannot but be of value to those who wish to keep abreast with the best and most practical thought on such matters. The lecture on March 12th will be on "The Character of Swedenborg's Illumination", by the Rev. Julian K. Smyth, of New York. On account of the great demand upon Mr. Smyth's time, it was not possible to obtain his services for an evening lecture, and his lecture will be at 3.45 in the afternoon. Those who have heard him once will be glad to hear him at any time. The Committee is most cordial in its invitation to all who are interested to be present at this and the other lectures. All seats will be free.

LASELL NOTES.

Former Governor J. Frank Hanley of Indiana is to speak on "The Spirit of Democracy" at the Athurndale Congregational church next Thursday evening. The address is given under the auspices of Lasell Seminary and the public is invited to attend.

The annual concert of the Orpheum Club was held in the gymnasium on Wednesday evening. Under the direction of Henry M. Dunham a chorus of 60 young ladies sang two cantatas, "The Song of the Normans" and "The Fishermen's Song". The young ladies were assisted by Miss Stella Crane, Miss Glena Pritchard, Miss Emma Rempler and Miss Abby M. Conly. Miss Mary F. Curtiss was the organist and the pianist was John Bavarid Currie.

The annual mid-winter reunion of the New England Lasell Seminary Alumnae was held Monday afternoon at the school and was attended by about 100 former students of the school. The members of the alumnae were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Winslow. A reception was held at which Dr. and Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. Lillie F. Merriam, the president of the Alumnae, Miss Angeline C. Blaisdell of the class of '67 and Miss Lillie R. Potter, the preceptress, received.

Following the reception a luncheon was served in the dining room. The color scheme throughout the building was gold and white and blue, the Lasell colors. The Lasell Glee club furnished music.

Miss Josephine Woodward of the class of 1910 was chairman of the committee of arrangements.

N. H. S.

Dr. Deborah Fawcett lectured before a special class of girls at the Newton Technical High School, Wednesday, upon the subject: "Healthful and Unhealthful Vocations". Dr. Fawcett's suggestions were most valuable and were listened to with much interest.

MR. JOHN WARD DEAD

Mr. John Ward, one of the best known residents of this city, died at his home on Ward street, Newton Centre, yesterday. Mr. Ward had a slight shock last fall, and a second stroke about a month ago, made him take to his bed. Mr. Ward was born in Newton, Oct. 18, 1825, and was of the eighth generation of one of the first settlers of the First Church at Newton Centre, where he has served as a deacon for many years. He was a member of the first city government serving as a member of the Common Council in 1874, 1875, 1876 and 1877 and as a member of the board of aldermen in 1887 and 1888. He has also been a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank for a long period. His wife died about 7 years ago and he leaves only a brother, Mr. Samuel Ward of Newton Centre and a sister Mrs. J. P. C. Hyde of Newton Highlands.

In his business as a market gardener, Mr. Ward has occupied land which has become quite valuable, during his long life, and he has seen the country town change into a beautiful residential city.

Funeral services will be held from his late residence on Ward street, this afternoon at three o'clock.

MR. GREENWOOD DEAD.

Mr. John Greenwood, a resident of West Newton for the past 36 years died on Monday at his home on Temple street, at the age of 63 years. Mr. Greenwood had been in poor health for the past two years, but has been able to attend to business until a few weeks ago, when the shock he received while in a street car accident, precipitated a crisis. Mr. Greenwood was born in Brighton and has been engaged in the shoe manufacturing business all his life, the past ten years being connected with the C. W. Dean Co. of Boston and Cohasset. Modest and unassuming, he made many friends, who valued him for his unflinching courage and unvarying good cheer. He was an original member of the American Whist Club and served as its treasurer for several years. He married Miss Ada Outhank of West Newton in 1874 and is survived by her one son, Mr. John Harold Greenwood and three daughters, Miss Alma, Miss Clara and Miss Kathleen Greenwood.

Funeral services were held from his late residence, yesterday afternoon and were attended by many friends and neighbors. The casket was surrounded by many beautiful flowers, Rev. Julian C. Javnes, pastor of the Unitarian church was in charge of the simple services, and the burial was in Evergreen Cemetery, Brighton. Messrs. Henry Purdie, Ernest N. Boyden, C. W. Dean and F. L. Felton were the pall bearers.

BARN DANCE.

Mount Ida Council Royal Arcanum held a Barn Dance at its rooms, Dennison Hall, Newtonville, Monday evening, Feb. 27th at which its members and friends enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. Haines Orchestra furnished excellent music and at "Fodder Time" the dancers regaled themselves in truly country style, with coffee, cake and doughnuts. The hall was decorated with stalls, harnesses, straw and farm implements, not forgetting the cider barrel. Guinea pigs, rabbits, and a bantam rooster which perched over one of the stalls and crowed his sanction to the performance lent a country air to the scene. The affair was a decided success.

Wednesday evening, March 15th, the Council will celebrate the twenty-third anniversary of its formation with a Ladies Night. An excellent dinner will be served at 6.30 P. M., followed by a unique program of entertainment, after which dancing will be enjoyed and the entertainment committee promise a Royal (Arcanum) Good time.

N. H. S.

PRACTICAL WORK

Many an experienced caterer would be daunted at the prospect of serving a luncheon to 700 persons five times each week.

But this is the work which the teachers and pupils of the household economic department of the Newton technical high school have attempted this year, and they are accomplishing the task in a manner that must be very satisfactory to Newton school officials, parents and to the pupils who eat the food prepared for them by the cooking classes of the school.

To teach young girls how to prepare simple but appetizing and healthful lunches at low cost is educational work of great practical value, and Mrs. Blanche E. Hyde, head of the department of household economics, and her three competent assistants deserve appreciation for the executive ability, the indefatigable labor and the skill which they exhibit in planning and carrying out the work of their department.

A tempting menu consisting of some well-made soup, sandwiches and cocoa, to which is added occasionally a toothsome salad, or a tiny ramekin of macaroni and cheese, or a bit of desert, is ready for 700 hungry pupils every school day at 11.45. The work of preparing and serving this food is done entirely by the cooking classes of the school.

The girls are taught not only how to prepare the food, but they are taught also how to order the needed supplies, and are so instructed in prices that they can prepare lunches that will come within a limited sum of money.

Recently the cooking classes of this school prepared and served lunches for 300 women during the meeting of the federation of home economic clubs which was held in the technical high school.

A teachers' lunch of three courses is prepared and served every day by the pupils. This gives the girls a wider range of effort, and the meals are made as varied and attractive as possible.

Another practical feature of the work is the fact that the sale of lunch tickets, the keeping of the accounts and payment of the bills for supplies, is made a part of the school work of the commercial department of the school.

SPRAGUE—HILL.

One of the most brilliant weddings of the season took place at St. John's Episcopal church Monday evening, when Louise, daughter of Frederick William Hill, formerly of this city, now living at 565 West 139th st., New York city, became the bride of Henry Bancroft Sprague, son of Edwin L. Sprague of Brookline.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard T. Loring, pastor of St. John's church. A large gathering was present, both at the ceremony and reception as both the bride and groom are extremely popular. The bride was a member of the class of '08 Newton high school and the groom a Harvard '10 man. He was also a member of the Newton high hockey and football teams before entering college.

The bride was gowned in a white crepe meter gown, trimmed with Irish lace. She was attended by her sister, Miss Majorie Hill, who was dressed in a white satin gown. The best man was Edwin Loring Sprague Jr. of Brookline, and the ushers were Lionel Drew, Richard Warren Sprague, Roland Franklin Gammons and J. Archibald Paton.

The reception was at the Newton club, the couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Hill, Edwin Loring Sprague and Miss Ruth Sprague. Both the church and club were prettily decorated. The groom and bride will live in New York city, where the groom is in business.

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church observed the fortieth anniversary of its organization last Tuesday afternoon and evening. Two of the eleven constituent members are still living, and were present to participate in the occasion: Mrs. Alvah Hovey and Mrs. Galusha Anderson, both residing in Newton Centre, and members of this church.

The exercises were of exceptional interest and appropriateness. Those in the afternoon were held in the chapel. Mrs. M. Grant Edmonds, president of the society, and also of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, presiding.

The exercises included solos by Mrs. S. W. Wilder, "Personal Reminiscences" by Mrs. Alvah Hovey assisted by Miss Adelaide I. Pierce, an "Historical Sketch" of unusual interest by Mrs. Galusha Anderson; an address on "Present Day Results" by Mrs. H. G. Safford, Corresponding Secretary of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society and another on "Our Outlook" by Mrs. Edmonds.

A social season followed, during which many out-of-town guests visited the Home for Missionaries' Children and the Hasseltine House. Supper was served in the dining-room.

The evening exercises established a precedent in missionary anniversaries of this character. The music consisted of selections by a ladies' chorus, and a soprano solo by Miss Marian Haskell. The main program was devoted to six striking scenes, original, and illustrating important epochs in woman's missionary work. The first scene represented "The Parlor Meeting in Brooklyn, 1829"; the second, "The Meeting in this Church, February, 1871", organizing this society and calling the meeting which gave birth to the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society. This scene was enhanced in interest by the fact that the parts were taken by the grand-daughters of the women who attended the meeting in February 1871. The third scene led across the ocean to "Gospel Light in Burma"; the fourth was "Zenana Work in India"; the fifth, "The Uplifting of Chinese Women"; the sixth, "A Mission Kindergarten in Japan."

The first two scenes had special historical and local significance. The last four gave an exceptional glimpse at the difficulties, environments, obstacles and achievements in woman's work for woman in the Eastern world. They conspired to make an impression such as no address, or even illustrated lecture, could have produced.

The exercises concluded with remarks on "The Influence of our Church Life" by the pastor, Rev. M. A. Levy. The company then repaired to the chapel for refreshments—dainty, unusual, Oriental—and all departed conscious that they had spent a profitable and inspiring afternoon and evening.

PAUPERS MUST WORK.

That the people of Newton who apply to the charity department for assistance are unwilling to work in payment has been demonstrated by a new system put into effect by Ernest R. Lowe, overseer of the poor. Of a number who applied for aid only one was willing to do a day's work at the city home to pay for the fuel or food given.

In the past the needy have been supplied with orders for the necessities of life whenever they asked. Recently all applicants for aid have been informed that if there was an able bodied man included in their family he must work for a day at the city home in Newton Highlands. The orders given out by the charity department are for $2 each and this was considered a fair wage for a day of unskilled labor. The work offered is general and includes a tussle with a large woodpile. Of all who have applied since this rule went into effect only one has seemed possessed of enough energy to pay for what he got. The others have declined with different degrees of disgust.

SHEDD—LEMOND.

Mr. Albert G. Shedd and Miss Esther E. Lemond were married by Rev. A. D. Stroud of the Methodist church at the parsonage on Hartford street Newton Highlands, last Monday evening. Mr. Shedd was best man, and the bride was attended by Miss Edith L. Shedd, sister of the groom. A reception followed at the home of the bride's sister Mrs. E. C. Beck of 403 Parker street, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Shedd left Wednesday for their new home in the northwest.

Tremont Theatre—Margaret Anglin, one of our foremost actresses, is to appear at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, on Monday evening, March 6th, under the direction of Messrs. Liebler & Co., in "Green Stockings," by A. E. W. Mason and George Fleming. The play is stated to be a new comedy in which Miss Anglin assumes a role entirely unlike those with which her name has been hitherto associated. The play in three acts has for its theme the audacious effort of a high spirited English girl to determine for herself emancipation from the thralldom of spinsterhood, by the ingenious and apparently simple method of inventing a fiancé and then calmly announcing her engagement to the family. How she succeeded in carrying conviction of her invention to her father and sisters and with what difficulties and confusion her plot involved her, are told in what is said to be a brightly written and witty story. During the Boston engagement there will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees at the Tremont Theatre.

Boston Theatre—Direct from a run of six months at the New York Theatre, "Naughty Marietta," the great comic opera success of the past decade comes to the Boston Theatre for a limited engagement beginning March 6th. "Naughty Marietta" represents the collaboration of Victor Herbert and Rida Johnson Young, and is the high water mark of American operetta. It is by far the most melodious score composed by Mr. Herbert and already the most popular numbers are heard in every city in the country. Mr. Hammerstein has provided a supporting company for Miss Tremont which has never been equalled in the world. As "Naughty Marietta" she has a role which was written and composed especially for her and which provides splendid opportunities for her brilliant singing and acting. The chorus of 80 was assembled at the Manhattan Opera House and is practically the same as was heard in the grand operas. The scenery and costumes and, in fact, the entire production is one of the most gorgeous ever given a comic opera in this country.

B. F. Keith's Theatre—With Mary Norman, the impersonator; Charles Lovenberg's big musical comedy, "College Life," with a company of twenty singers, dancers and comedians; York and Adams, and the Eight Berlin Madcaps among the principal features, the bill for B. F. Keith's next week again promises to break all records. "College Life" is full of ringer from start to finish, with an endless amount of fun, rollicking college songs, and a beautiful stage setting. York and Adams are two of the greatest Hebrew comedians on the stage today, and come with an entirely new program. The Eight Berlin Madcaps is one of the liveliest aggregations of pretty girls that has ever come to America. Another feature will be Gerald Griffin and company in one of the funniest comedies ever written, called "Other People's Money," while other features will be John Birch, "the man with the hats," the Three Athletes in gymnastic feats, and Sharp and Wilkes Street Theatre. It doesn't make a particle of difference to the public what is the name or nationality of the girl Miss Billie Burke may happen to be impersonating on the stage. It is Miss Billie Burke herself they want to see. Miss Burke will open a two weeks engagement at the Hollis street theatre, Boston, on Monday evening next in "Suzanne," the comedy in which she recently scored a big success. And Miss Burke is well worth seeing as Suzanne. It's decidedly the best role she's had since she became a star—displaying all her sweetness and prettiness and winsomeness and charm to the very best advantage and besides gives her an opportunity to prove that she has every right to a place high up in the list of American comedienne. "Suzanne" will be preceded at every performance by "The Philosopher in the Apple Orchard," a playlet founded on one of Anthony Hope's stories, which gives Miss Burke a chance to appear in quite a different kind of role and one in which she is quite as charming. Miss Burke's matinees are on Wednesday and Saturday.

Castle Square Theatre—"The End of the Bridge," the play that won the prize of $500 offered by John Craig in the recent competition open to Harvard and Radcliffe students, will be produced for the first time on any stage at the Castle Square Theatre next week. Its author is Miss Florence Lincoln, a student in Radcliffe, and in "The End of the Bridge" she has written a play in four acts that tells a romantic story of life of the present day. Its theme is the conflict between ambition and duty, and its leading characters are a distinguished physician, Dr. John Garret, and his ward, Miss Joan Manning. In writing this play, Miss Lincoln has striven to make it effective on the stage, and although its theme is serious, it is lighted with not a little humor. The leading roles will be acted by John Craig, Mary Young and George Hassell.

MARRIED IN DECEMBER.

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Miss Miriam Smith, daughter of Marcell N. Smith of Brookline, and James Henry Rand, Jr., of Newtonville, which took place at Manchester last December.

About 600 cards were sent out by the bride's parents Wednesday, this being the first intimation the friends had of the marriage. A desire on the part of the young people to avoid the fuss of a big wedding, together with the thought that they would steal a march on their friends, is the reason the young people took no one into their confidence.

On Dec. 28 they went to Manchester and were married by Rev. Mr. Ruge, pastor of the First Congregational church there. The parental blessings followed as a matter of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Rand started Tuesday evening for a honeymoon trip to the south. They will be at home to their friends in May at the home of the brides parents, 51 Babcock street, Brookline.

The bride is a graduate of the Harvard seminary in West Bridgewater and it was during her stay at a school at Middlebury, Conn., that she first met Mr. Rand.

Mr. Rand played on the Harvard varsity football team of '08. He is the son of James Henry Rand.

Graphic Ads Give Best ResultsRIVERBANK SUBWAY REPEAL.

The question of the repeal of the Riverbank Subway Act is of vital importance to citizens of Newton at the present time.

One naturally asks when this question is considered, how did the Riverbank route happen to be selected? It was not selected in the interest of the Boston Elevated Railway Company or any other special interest but in the interest of Boston as a whole. Three public spirited Boston gentlemen gave $2000 to have an engineer absolutely without bias investigate the three routes proposed, namely—Commonwealth Avenue, Boylston Street and the Riverbank. The Commonwealth Avenue route was found to be altogether too expensive. The Boylston Street route was found to be nearly as expensive, involving difficult sewerage questions and the reconstruction of gas, water, electric light, telephone and other conduits, the shoring up of all buildings and expensive provisions that must be made for the continuance of transit traffic during construction.

The available route was therefore found to be the Riverbank route and elaborate and very careful plans were made which have since been approved by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, by the Legislature in 1907, by the House of Representatives and Senate in that year and by the Governor who signed the bill. It was then approved by the Board of Directors of the Elevated Railway which accepted the provisions of the Act in July, 1907, and the Transit Commission which, after a public hearing, decided that public necessity and convenience required its construction without delay. Finally the Railroad Commissioners after a public hearing, fixed the number and location of the stations. These are to be at Massachusetts Avenue, at Dartmouth street, and at Charles street which will insure rapid transit to Newton, saving from rapid transit to Newton, saving from $200,000 of the Boston Riverbank Subway Loan bonds for the construction of this subway were issued by the City, and more than $200,000 have been expended for plans, borings, estimates, etc., all of which would be wasted if the Act was repealed. Then when work was about to be commenced and at the very last minute certain gentlemen formed what they called "The Boylston Street Merchants' Association." They had elaborate plans made which included sidewalks underneath the street and four tracks on two of which express cars would run while the other two would be locals. They got out a great deal of literature and this bill presented to the Legislature to repeal the Riverbank Subway Act.

Now, are these gentlemen acting unselfishly in the interest of rapid transit or are they acting simply to retain all of the present traffic? If they are acting unselfishly in the interest of rapid transit why did they not propose this plan years ago for it has taken more than five years to get the Riverbank Subway through to the present state and it would take much more than five years to get the more elaborate Boylston Street idea through to the point of beginning excavation? If they are acting in the interests of rapid transit how does it happen that no organization in the City besides their own is favoring the Boylston Street plan? On the other hand the United Improvement Association of Boston, the Faneuil Hall Improvement Association of Brighton and the West End Improvement Association of Boston are all behind the Riverbank Subway idea, besides a body of public spirited citizens, consisting of Desmond Fitzgerald, Wm. C. Codman, George B. Upham, Wm. Allen Hayes, Frederick S. Whitwell, March C. Bennett, Charles P. Adams, 2d, Charles H. Fiske, Jr., R. Chipston Sturgis, Alexander Cochrane, Karl Killburn and others.

It is perfectly self-evident that if Newton is to have good street car service to Boston without a delay of many years the Riverbank Subway must go through. Regardless of whether it is best for others, it is manifestly best for Newton, and should not every public spirited citizen do what he can for it. One way is to write or speak to Members of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs, of which Committee Mr. Bothfield of Newton is House chairman, and Mr. Sullivan of Natick our Senator is Senate chairman.

WEEKS GETS PEN.

President Taft Wednesday signed the Weeks Appalachian forestry bill, using six pens to complete his signature. The reason that so many pens were necessary was that the President had been asked by six persons for the pen with which he signed the bill.

Those who will get pens are Representative Weeks, who is really responsible for the passage of the bill; Senator Overman of North Carolina. Senator Brandegee of Connecticut. Representative Currier of New Hampshire. Representative Lever of South Carolina and Mr. Finney of the forest service, all of whom worked hard for the measure.

If the suburban woman shops systematically and intelligently, she finds the task much easier than when perambulating in a haphazard way. Writing in Suburban Life for March, Mrs. Williams says: "Since the commuting day is always too short, plan to make the most of it. At the stores get a transfer card, take it from counter to counter, and pay for your purchases all at once. A further time-saver is the address card. These you can make yourself, of thin white cardboard, lettered plainly, with your name, street address, the name of your town and the railway line you travel over. Give one of these cards to the sales person at each counter. It will save as much trouble as time. If you wish things sent C. O. D., mark it on the cards. Thus you are sure of getting what you pay for, and of paying only for what you get."

I earnestly hope that residents of this city and, indeed, of the metropolitan district, will not be carried off their feet, by the determined, organized efforts of members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, to persuade the people that their future well being lies in the adoption of the plan of a metropolitan advisory council. In the first place it is yet to be proved that any change is necessary, and while the Chamber committee is diligently presenting alleged reasons for the creation of the proposed council, it has absolutely no right to argue that unless its plan of salvation is accepted, the various municipalities in the district, will be face to face with annexation to Boston.

My readers should reject this specious argument without question. Annexation to Boston is not only remote, under present conditions, but would be more possible under the Chamber plan than now. With the fear of annexation removed, one can consider the advantages and disadvantages more judiciously and impartially. There is much truth in the assertion that without Boston, there could be no Newton. We are essentially dependent upon the metropolis for our very existence. But this does not mean that we must sacrifice our local independence at the dictum of a commercial organization, just because certain members of that organization believe that Boston needs the advertising and prestige which a larger district would probably attract. With the exception of a more efficient control over the present metropolitan parks, water and sewers, the Chamber has not presented a single valid argument for federation, which cannot be met, without the possible dangers of such consolidation. The better fire protection is already half accomplished. Uniform building and health laws can be obtained under present conditions as well as under the proposed advisory plan. Harbor improvements are of no direct interest to the suburban municipalities, and would require state support in any event. The necessity for radial highways is yet to be proved, as engineers have long pointed to Boston as a fine example of the best planned city in that respect. What we need in this direction is not thru routes to and from Boston, but better highways upon a circumference around Boston. These, too, can be easily arranged with the cooperation of the Highway Commission.

Boiled down to its essence, the Chamber of Commerce is urging this change for the sole purpose of advertising Boston. While this is a most commendable reason, it should be arranged without the cumbersome plan of a metropolitan council. Pressure brought to bear on the Census Bureau at Washington to arrange statistics by industrial districts would bring this about, and even if an act of Congress was necessary, such a course would be far less dangerous than the plan now proposed.

One well informed gentleman states the case most concisely when he declares that if the advisory council is established, and fails to meet the expectations of its friends, that fact will be used as a reason for giving it more and more power. If it is a success, more power will naturally be delegated. It therefore stands to reason that if the advisory council is adopted, the future will see that it is given additional power each year, and annexation under these circumstances is most probable.

Every thoughtful citizen should do everything in his power at the present time to prevent a public hysteria on this matter, which may lead to serious consequences. The delay and study of the question cannot hurt the idea if it is good, and may lead to a more reasonable solution of the alleged problems which are exercising the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The hearing this evening at City Hall on the proposed change of precinct lines in Ward 2 will be largely one sided, if surface indications count for anything. It is self evident that with over 300 voters told to choose between a polling place a half mile out of their neigh-

hood to one much closer at hand, the decision will be strongly in favor of the latter. This is exactly the situation in ward two. The polling places heretofore have been located so as to convenience the voters who use the steam railroad, and, indeed, this is the case in about every precinct of the city. The ward two situation, however, is different as the proposed new precinct contains a large majority of voters who are employed in this city. It is to be hoped that the aldermen will not attempt to save a few hundred dollars, by making two precincts, as at present, and simply changing the lines. This plan would give one precinct of over 800 voters of whom fully 80 per cent. would use the railroad, and therefore desire to vote during the early hours of the morning. The result would be a congestion of voters at the polls, which would inevitably cause many men to lose their vote. It is penny wise and pound foolish policy to refuse to make three precincts in ward two under all the circumstances.

Attention is invited to a communication in this issue on the Riverbank subway. The GRAPHIC is always glad to give space to such articles as they serve to interest the public in these vital questions. As the matter now stands, it is for residents of this city to decide whether or not they shall demand the immediate construction of a subway to give us rapid transit to Boston by the Riverbank which has passed thru all its preliminary stages, or wait patiently for two or three years more for the preliminary work to be done on the Bowdoin street plan. The Riverbank plan will give results within two years, but will not serve the Back Bay district as well as the Bowdoin street plan. The latter plan, with tracks for local and express service, is by far the best presented, but is it worth waiting for?

There is always room for one more.
Welcome to our city.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

These are interesting days, at the committee hearings, as the big measures are now being heard. The proposed repeal of the bar and bottle bill was agitated before the Liquor Law committee this week, and the committee of which Representative Bothfield is House chairman has been urged to repeal a law which has not yet been put in operation. It is a safe bet that the Legislature will allow the law to have a trial, at least, before repealing it.

The hearings on the repeal of the Riverbank subway were also continued the present week, although few Newton people were present. This matter is considered in other portions of this issue so I will not take it up here.

The police win their bill for one day off in every 15, but it is subject to its acceptance by the board of aldermen before it becomes effective and it is exceedingly doubtful if such a measure would get favorable consideration by the Newton aldermen.

The size of a baker's loaf of bread was dutifully considered by the Mercantile Affairs committee this week, the petitioner stating that the present law, that a whole loaf should weigh 32 ounces, was being violated. How many housewives in Newton know that a loaf of bread should weigh 32 ounces?

The Herald State House reporter has the following to say of Representative George H. Ellis of this city:

It would be a mighty good thing for the people of Massachusetts if they had a few more legislators like George H. Ellis of Newton.

There are no frills or turbulences about Ellis, but when it comes to real, earnest, intelligent consideration of important measures, none of the bright particular stars of either branch has anything on him.

He knows when to speak and when to remain silent as well as any of them. And if you should ask him the proper time for silence, he would probably answer, "Nearly all the time."

The more he saw the less he spoke. The less he spoke the more he heard. Why can't we be like that old bird?

Ellis is. It is truly refreshing, during the frequent hot-air tornadoes in the House, to see him keep his eyes and ears open and his mouth shut until he has something worth saying and the time is ripe to say it. And then it is refreshing to hear him say his say in the fewest possible words.

It is the same in committee hearings. He is House chairman of the committee on labor, and although an employer of labor, is known to labor leaders as one of the fairest members of that committee.

When witnesses wander in their testimony around Robinhood's barn, as they have a habit of doing, and other members of the committee have rendered the situation murkier than ever by their questions, one or two simple interrogations from Ellis often serve to dispel the clouds and straighten out the tangle.

He is the committee clarifier. He is also the House clarifier. Would there were more of the same brand.

COMMUNICATION.

Last Friday evening, at Player's hall, West Newton, the young people of St. John's church, Newtonville, presented a three act comedy entitled "The Colonel's Maid" before a large and enthusiastic audience, who, from the rise of the curtain to its last drop, never stopped laughing at the humorous incidents which occurred throughout the play. It would be putting it mild to say that all in the cast covered themselves with glory and added to the laurels which have already been attained by former plays in which they have appeared.

WOMEN'S CLUBS NEWS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The Club Editor has had somewhat to say about the selection of nominating committees in times past. She feels moved this week to say something of their methods. When so much power is given them, and usually it is well that it is so, they should reward the confidence that is placed in them by most thoughtful and painstaking work. Making up a slate is really serious business and cannot be done in a single meeting. Often times it must be done much as a game of chess is played, one move at a time. While club women are for the most part above petty jealousy, yet care must be taken that the women placed upon a board are going to fit in well together. For friction in a board is going to be disastrous to the club. And then, too, there is much to be said on the attitude with which women accept office. Occasionally there are those who seem to have little idea of the responsibility they are assuming, while on the other hand there are so many who unwilling to accept any position of responsibility whatever. Ideal officers are difficult to find and seldom really exist, but the club must not be allowed to go to pieces for the want of officers. And so nominating committees take courage and bring forward the very best persons you can and let time take care of the rest.

The Newton Mothers' Club will meet with Mrs. Walsh of Valentine street on Monday, March 6. Mr. Enoch C. Adams will speak upon "The Home and the School."

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. meets with Mrs. G. S. Stewart of Floral street on Monday, March 6.

There will be a special meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation at the New Church parlors, Newtonville, at 10.15 A. M. on Monday morning, March 6.

On Monday evening at eight o'clock the Executive Board of the Auburndale Review Club will entertain the members and guests of the club with a musical and reception.

The regular meeting of the Auburndale Review Club will be held on Tuesday morning, March 7, with Mrs. Waldo W. Cole.

On Tuesday afternoon, March 7, the Newtonville Woman's Guild will meet. Subject, "Guild Members Abroad."

A paper upon "The Cape Cod Canal" will be presented to the Social Science Club on March 8. Guests may be invited.

"A Morning of Song" is the program of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday, March 9.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club holds a Home meeting on March 10. Gentlemen's Night will be observed on Monday evening, March 13, when a play will be presented by members of the club under the direction of Mrs. Harry L. Wells.

At the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 23, Prof. Bliss Perry of Harvard lectured on "American Newspapers and Magazines." Comparing American newspapers with foreign, Prof. Perry commented on the light fiction of the bound books sold there with few of the inexpensive editions of standard work or of popular science as found in England, France, Germany or Italy.

The foreigner would be surprised at the number and variety of magazines displayed at our news stands. They depict the characteristics of our people, their advertisements show our needs and desires. Ideals of the leaders of the magazine world have done much for the education of the public, as for example, the art work of Harper's, Century and Scribner's has much improved public taste. Compared with the best foreign reviews, our magazines show lack of literary fineness, the articles are good reporting rather than scholarly productions.

Our newspapers are noteworthy first for their bulk, the amount of printed paper sold for a penny or a nickel. Some display misleading and sensational headlines, which give wrong and dangerous impressions. We have no national journal, no centre whose newspapers are read all over the country as in European countries. Our newspapers are helpful in assimilating immigrants, as showing American characteristics as opposed to those of other races and countries.

Magazines and newspapers are necessary for the commercial and social life of a nation, they are more necessary on the moral and spiritual side to mold and improve public sentiment.

At noon on Friday, Feb. 24, a delicious luncheon was served to the members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club at the Player's Snell Hall under the direction of Mrs. Fred B. Young, chairman of the hospitality committee.

Following this at 2.30 the regular meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. T. M. Elwell. The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. A. H. Clifford, chairman of the club house committee. Mrs. Baldwin of Worcester, Mrs. Wales of Dorchester, Mrs. Houston of Lynn, Mrs. Salisbury and Mrs. Burbank of Allston gave descriptions of the ways and means by which they had secured their "castles in the air." Letters were received from Mrs. Dike of Melrose and Mrs. Galan of Springfield. Supplementing these Mrs. Elwell, Mrs. Clifford and Mrs. Everett Jones spoke briefly and so convincingly in favor of a home for the club that the members were inspired to help make it a reality.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. has been having an American year, having considered the literature, art and music and have just now come to the science. At its meeting on Monday afternoon a paper upon "The Development of Steam Power in America" was read by Mrs. Stewart, having been prepared by Mrs. Richards. It considered also industrial machinery and the machinery of transportation. The latter part of the afternoon was taken up with a discussion of plans for the work of next year.

At the meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands on Feb. 27 the study of "Les Miserables" was continued, papers being given on "Cosette" and "Marius." Next week this study will be dropped for a talk on "Settlement Work," which will be given at the home of Mrs. Henry F. Williams corner of Lakewood and Norman roads.

Mrs. William H. Oakes opened her beautiful home on Upland road for Monday afternoon's meeting of the Waban Woman's Club. In response to an appeal for early assembling, because of a long and interesting program, the meeting was called to order promptly at 2.30, at which time a large gathering was present.

Miss Carolina Marcial, a Spanish student at Wellesley College, gave an informal talk upon "Modern Spain," prefacing her remarks with legends of Ancient Spain. She attractively described the local color of the country and the mental environment of its people. Continuing she portrayed the daily life, domestic and social of the Spanish senorita, concluding, by saying that Spain although in a quiescent state at present was becoming aroused from its lethargy and would regain its standing in the world of art and literature.

Following Miss Marcial's most interesting talk, eight club members admirably read and acted a three act drama entitled "The World and his Wife." Tea and social half hour ended the afternoon's entertainment. Mrs. Roscoe and Mrs. Johnson presided over the tea table, while some of the younger ladies assisted with the serving.

The Social Science Club held its monthly business meeting on Wednesday morning when certain phases of club procedure were discussed, as well as reports of committees submitted. A gift of ten dollars was voted from the treasury to aid the Concord Woman's Club in preserving the home of Louisa Alcott. Mrs. I. N. Peirce will receive any individual contributions from club members.

At the close of the business session Mrs. O. H. Merrick of Brookline gave a charming paper upon "The Passion Play." Mrs. Merrick described the village and its people and told of the play itself. She found no signs of the commercialism among the people of which the newspapers of the summer were so full.

The regular meeting of the N. P. L. & D. Club was held on Tuesday the 28th at 23 Boyd street.

Subsidiary motions were studied under the direction of the leader Mrs. E. M. Sherman. Current Events by Mrs. W. D. Tripp.

The next whist under the auspices of this club will be on Thursday, March 16th at 2 o'clock with Mrs. S. B. Whittemore, 64 Washington street, Newton. Next regular meeting of the club on Tuesday, March 14th at 10.15 A. M. at 23 Boyd street.

DIED.

RECEPTION.

The parishioners of the Newton Centre Unitarian church tendered a reception last Monday night to the pastor, Rev. A. H. Robinson and his bride, in the church parlors, which were attractively decorated for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. James Kingman, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Robinson in receiving. The affair was in the hands of a capable committee headed by Mrs. F. F. Cutler and Mrs. W. W. Webber.

Does a grate which will dump the cinders in your fire pot appeal to you? It does to many, and is contained in the "WINCHESTER" Steam or Hot Water Heater, made for modern dwelling houses. Write SMITH & THAYER, C.O. 26 Congress Street, Boston, Mass.

ANNUAL DANCE.

The third annual dance of the Suburban Railway Club was held in the Armory Hall on Tuesday evening and was largely attended. The program included selections by Walter E. Anderson, F. S. V. Sias, Clark Fox and others. Dancing was in charge of Mr. John J. Cotton, assisted by a corps of aids.

N. H. S.

Kivo S. Unui will speak in the Assembly hall next week Friday evening on "The East vs. the West," the proceeds are for the school library.

George O. Almy, for several years on the night desk of the Boston Post, has associated himself with William P. Sweeney and John J. Cronin in real estate and insurance, with offices at 259 Washington street. Mr. Almy was formerly correspondent for five years of the Boston Herald in the Newton district and is therefore perfectly familiar with all parts of the city, its needs and possibilities. For the present he will be in the real estate office in Nonantum square, afterwards, devoting the morning to the showing of real estate properties.

"REAL BOSTON."

A series of conferences on "Real Boston" is announced by the H. Y. M. C. Union for the four Sunday afternoons in March. President Frank L. Locke will preside, and the different phases of the subject will be considered on the different dates by prominent men, each an expert in his particular department. 21 YEARS OLD.

In this age of new fangled ideas, especially among the dress makers, of pantaloons and harem skirts it is seldom that one is afforded the opportunity of seeing the ideas of the dress-makers when they designed the costumes of the maid, in the time of George Washington. This was the treat given last Tuesday evening, at the entertainment and dance given by the members of the Boynton Lodge No. 20, U. O. of I. O. L. in Dennison hall, at the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of their order.

As one entered the hall, the feeling of living in the twentieth century was lost, and the general appearance of the room brought vividly before the eyes and mind, that of a truly colonial room, inhabited by real colonial maids.

A delightful colonial entertainment was given by various people all dressed up in the costumes of the "ancients". Mr. Harry A. Preston, dressed in the garb of a colonial squire with powdered wig, velvet trousers, a white waistcoat and a coat of many colors and low shoes with the silver buckles shining, acted the part of the announcer. With his clear, stentorian voice, the popular Harry announced that the first act on the program would be an American dance by three young ladies, Miss Constance Hicks and the Misses Marguerite and Matilda Daniell dressed in white, with banners of the national colors thrown over their shoulders, and dainty caps, gave a dance which was greatly appreciated by the audience and was heartily enjoyed.

A reading was given by Mrs. Ella Mason, dressed in the evening gown of the typical Colonial woman, in which she praised the members of the weaker sex, condemned the descendants of the first man, and ended up by announcing that she was a strong member of the crusade against man, in other words she was a suffragette. Miss Olive Bowden rendered a vocal solo entitled "Barbara Freitchie" which was much applauded and Miss Florence Cory, appeared in a Dolly Varden costume, and gave a reading on the way that a proposal was made in "the olden time", and we might venture to say that if it took as long now to accomplish the same thing, the city treasury of Boston would be overfilled with tax money from the batchelors. Miss Edith Daniell, attired as a Scottish dancer held the audience spell-bound with her dance, which would have done Harry Lauder justice.

Immediately after the entertainment the grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Preston, and all the rest of the people who were in costume. Among those who appeared in costume was observed the following: Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Daniell were so antiquated that they went as far back as the time of George and Martha Washington and appeared in the same kind of costumes as the genial "father of his country" and his esteemed wife would probably have worn had they appeared at this social function. Miss Gladys G. Preston was seen gliding over the hall in what she modestly acknowledged to be an "Aunt Martha's Raspberry Basque"; Mr. Hugh Fogwell dressed as a country squire, made things lively by his witticisms, and his eager efforts to see that every one had a good time. The Misses Florence Cory and Reta Jefferson wore "Dolly Vardens".

Mrs. W. A. Clark appeared as a lady of the fourteenth century, while Mrs. A. L. Plasted took the part of the old maid. Mrs. H. A. Preston was dressed as member of the "400". Miss Bertha Puritan, Mrs. C. E. Mills represented the type of a "belle of 1830"; Mrs. Eva Fogwell appeared in a "Queen Elizabeth"; Mrs. F. Cory posed in a "Marie Antoinette" and Mrs. E. E. Dailey proudly displayed a court costume.

Mrs. Wm. H. Packard wore a colonial princess, which was rather different from the ones appear in the modern fashion plates. Mrs. C. G. Newcomb also wore a "Dolly Varden" and Mrs. Eliza Bradford appeared as the Dutch Girl. Mrs. C. L. Berry tripped about the room as Queen Mary while Mrs. A. J. Littlehale wore an original "Louis the 15th" which was imported into this country over half a century ago.

Mrs. A. G. Preston was chairman of the entertainment committee while Mrs. E. L. Daniels was assistant and Mesdames Bradford, Jordan, Berry, Mason, Fewkes and Clark were aids.

The members of the supper committee were Mrs. E. C. Fogwell, chairman ex-officio, Mrs. A. M. Florence was chairman, assisted by the Misses Jefferson, Slick, Fewkes, Cory, Jefferson, Foster, Williams, Daniells, Cook, Thomas and Buck.

After the dancing ended a circle was formed about the room and all joined in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne", after which cheers were given for the lodge and Mrs. Preston. About three hundred were present.

MR. UPHAM DEAD.

Alexander M. Upham, for thirty-five years foreman of the construction work in the Water Department of this city, passed away at the Newton Hospital Wednesday morning March first.

He had been in poor health for several years and gave up work about a year ago.

Previous to his coming to Newton he served for 12 years in Her Majesty's Royal Artillery, enlisting in London, Eng.—and during this service touched three continents and met many people of note.

He was deacon in the First Baptist church, West Newton for 12 years, resigning about 3 years ago; and during his life in church and city discharged all duties with credit and honor.

He had a mind well stored with history, biography and literature, besides a great aptitude for higher mathematics and wrote quite a little for the papers. To those that knew him the dearest and truest his life was the sweetest and best.

He was seventy years of age and leaves a sister, Miss Sarah B. Upham, and a number of nieces and nephews.

The funeral services will be held from his late home 14 Churchill avenue, Newtonville, at 2 P. M. Sunday.

A GREAT SUCCESS

Last Friday evening an entertainment was given in the Assembly hall of the Newton Classical High school by the pupils and alumni of the school for the benefit of their annual magazine the "Newtonian". At a senior class meeting, early in February, the following members of the class of 1911, were appointed to arrange an entertainment, the proceeds of which were to be devoted to the "Newtonian": Stuart Rider, chairman, Kathryn Tewksbury, Ellen Burdett, Joseph Proctor. Later William Dorney was added to the committee as advertising agent. Under the efficient direction of Chairman Rider a vaudeville entertainment was planned to contain the musical as well as the humorous element. The committee was loyally supported by the alumni, and were especially fortunate in obtaining the aid of Miss Elsie Harrington, and Miss Ethel Greenwood; both members of the class of 1908.

Miss Harrington gave the "Butterfly Dance" performing with both ease and grace, and was heartily enjoyed. Miss Greenwood gave two selections and an encore. The first, a spirited piece was given with much animation and enthusiasm. Her second selection, both tender and humorous, kept her hearers in a gale of laughter. The encore was bright and witty. Miss Greenwood shows much talent, and gives promise of becoming a fine reader.

Miss Julia Pickard, 1908, and the Chadney Trio, 1908, were the valuable assets to the program. Miss Pickard rendered her difficult violin solo, brilliantly and effectively.

The Chadney Trio played most harmoniously.

College Tableaux was another interesting feature of the evening. Much laughter was provoked by Sanderson, who insisted on representing Princeton by a living picture instead of a tableau. After the performance, dancing was enjoyed in the drill-hall from ten until eleven, music being furnished by Richard Hill, 1911. Ninety dollars was cleared over and above expenses.

Among those taking part in the program were Miss Mary Adams '11, Warren Blue, Fay Roope, Miss Ruth Ivy, Miss Edith Soden, Miss Vida Chase, Miss Frances Burr, Miss Holmes, Bowman Atkins, W. Cady, Kenneth Tucker, R. Baldwin, Grafton Sanderson, R. West, Miss Marjorie Holmes, Miss Kathryn Tewksbury, Miss Mary Paine, Miss Ruth Clark, Miss Beatrice Allen, Miss Helen Gansse and the High School orchestra.

About 250 were present.

The Eliot Guild has secured one of the strongest attractions of the season to be presented evening of Wednesday, March 22, at the Eliot Chapel, Newton. A Dramatic Recital of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" by Jerome K. Jerome. This recital as presented by Miss Alice Chaoman, Recitator, member of the Professional Women's Club of Boston, when given in Brooklyn at Brooklyn Institute in December after the play had run two years in New York city packed the hall and several hundred was turned away. Secure your seats in advance. Tickets may be had of Mrs. H. W. Kenway, 19 George Street, Newton, Tel. 1553-L.

YOUNG MUSICIANS' CLUB.

The Young Musicians' Club entertained about fifty of their friends Saturday evening, March 4th at their studio, 20 Foster street, Newtonville. A pleasing program was rendered by the members of the club but the feature of the evening was the piano playing by Mr. John Hermann Loud who aroused the genuine enthusiasm of his audience by his brilliant technique, beautiful tone quality and finished musicianship. Refreshments were served after the program.

JOHN WARD'S WILL

The will of John Ward of Newton, filed for probate at East Cambridge makes a number of gifts to educational and missionary societies. It is dated April 2, 1904, and contains many private bequests to relatives and friends. The original will named no executors, leaving the selection to the judge of probate. A codicil under date of Jan. 20, 1906, names Samuel Ward and Burton Payne Ward, both of Newton Centre as executors.

A bequest of $2000 to Carleton college at Northfield, Minn., and a trust gift of $10,000 to the trustees of Doane college, Crete, Neb., to be devoted toward paying the salaries of the instructors in Franklin Academy, Chadron Academy and Weeping Water Academy, all in their respective towns in Nebraska, are both revoked in a codicil under date of Dec. 16, 1907, and the several amounts are given to the Congregational educational society of Boston for investment.

The income is to be used for the same purposes as in the clause in the will, or in the judgment of the directors of that society, to assist any needy Christian academy in the United States.

The residue is left to the executors, the income to be divided each year equally among the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, the Massachusetts home missionary society and the American missionary association, in the case of the last for missionary work in the islands ceded by Spain to the United States. At the age of 15 years, if the estate should not be so settled as to clear up all the investments, investments and income, is to be divided as the income had been during the years preceding.

CITY HALL.

A well attended public hearing was held by the Committee on Rules last Friday evening on the proposed plan to divide ward two into three voting precincts. About 50 persons were present and the three precincts were favored by ex-alderman W. J. Doherty, C. F. Dalton, J. F. Mulligan, James S. Cannon, C. E. Hodges and Daniel O'Connell. The detail as to the proposed line was opposed by J. B. Willis, H. M. Stone, Metz, J. S. Farquhar, M. S. Williams, G. W. Auvransen, Wm. Jenks, Albert P. Carter, J. B. Robinson, I. A. Nevins, D. Auvransen, F. W. Hardy and Alderman Avery. There was a division of sentiment in the opposition as to the desirability of three precincts but in general the remarks were directed as to where the line should be drawn. The annual water bills will be distributed tomorrow.

HAT AND HAIR.

Miss Caroline, who has returned from where wits work for women's wear and wishes, says: "Puffs and curls" have completely routed the retreating "rats and rools"; and as the adopted style of hair dressing determines the style of the head size it is declining. The helmet shape is at war with the Napoleonic and a Waterloo is imminent, everything of the "militaire" order is aspired a victory in the battle of style in the smart hats. In the color scheme, "black and white" still holds the fort, but, cadet blue and karky are rallying to the fore. The small and large hat are in fierce contest for supremacy with the little licking the larger. The coarse braids have carried the day with the small "chapeau," while the fine, delicate large hat, the hand-made and factory hat vie each other for fashion's favor, while for trimming flowers and feathers are fervently fighting. So the fray goes on for woman's fancy. Miss Caroline is showing that which is correct and comfortable at her rooms, 486 Bevilston St., in the block of the Brunswick Hotel, Boston.

THE NEWTON CLUB

Saturday, March eleventh.
Bowling.
Thursday, March sixteenth.
Vaudeville, 8 p. m.

ENTERTAINMENT CLUB.

The second performance of the Entertainment Club, for the season was given in the Channing church parlors Monday evening and was one of the best in the Club's history. The first was vaudeville and consisted of a bass solo by Mr. Henry Pinner Curtis, readings and a monologue by Mrs. Florence Close Gale; soprano songs by Mrs. Ralph C. Emery; Primrose and Hungarian folk dances by the Misses Edith Caverly and Irene Telford, and mandolin solos by Mr. Allen Burt. "A Bachelor's Picnic", by the Robert Mandell Company was very entertaining. Mr. Mandell took the part of a bachelor in search of a wife and the ladies who applied were represented by Miss Carolyn W. Clarke, Miss Caroline B. Brown, Mrs. Robert E. Mandell, Mrs. Edward M. Moore and Miss Helen Wells. A male quartet composed of Dr. Leslie H. Taylor and Messrs George M. Nash, Thomas F. Murray and Henry P. Curtis rendered several selections. The second part of the program was the presentation of Richard Harding Davis' one act comedy, "Miss Civilization", which was artistically given by Miss Helen Clarke as the daughter of the railroad president, Messrs W. C. Adams, Horace C. Harrington and Dennett Adams as the burglars and Mr. H. P. Curtis as the chief of police. The entertainment was given under the direction of Mrs. Edward M. Moore, president of the club. Mrs. Alice P. Coddington was the pianist and accompanist.

MR. SULLIVAN DEAD

Deceased was formerly in business in Manchester, N. H., and for over 20 years was proprietor of a dry goods store in Central block. Since that time he had been connected with the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Company. He had been a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for 42 years. Funeral services were held from the family residence Tuesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Jav. T. Stocking, pastor of Central church where deceased attended. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and a profusion of floral tributes. The burial was in Newton Cemetery.

OPPOSE ADVISORY COUNCIL

ABLE ARGUMENT AGAINST SCHEME OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The great importance of the subject is sufficient reason for printing the report of the Greater Boston Committee of the Newton aldermen in full:—

Report of the Committee on Greater Boston to the Board of Aldermen.

Your Committee appointed to consider what, if any, action this Board should take on the proposition now pending for some sort of a consolidation or confederation of the cities and towns in the Metropolitan District have considered the question with great care and beg to report as follows:—

The Committee have held four meetings, at the second of which Mr. Wells, the Secretary of the "Real Boston" Committee of the Chamber of Commerce was present at the invitation of your Committee, and the Committee thoroughly discussed the question with Mr. Wells in all its phases. At their other two meetings your Committee also considered the questions involved with great care and have come unanimously to the opinion embodied in this report. The Committee wishes to acknowledge the courtesy of the representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, which has at all times been extended to this Committee in its investigation.

The proposition of the Chamber of Commerce has taken concrete form in a bill which has been presented to the Legislature by the Chamber in substitution for the Bennett bill. The Chamber of Commerce bill provides that the cities and towns which are now included within the Metropolitan Park, Sewer or Water Districts or such other cities or towns as may hereafter be joined to any of these districts, shall constitute a confederation to be known as the Metropolitan Boston Council.

Section 2 of the bill provides that the Council shall serve without compensation, shall meet four times a year and as much oftener as it may desire.

Section 3 provides that all matters pending in the Legislature affecting Metropolitan Boston shall be submitted to the Metropolitan Council and the Council shall submit to the Legislature reports and recommendations as to all such matters. The section further provides that all votes shall be taken by municipalities and each municipality shall be entitled to one vote except as to legislation affecting metropolitan sewer, water or park districts, where those municipalities only which are included in the districts affected shall be entitled to vote.

Section 4 of the bill empowers the Council on petition of citizens or commercial or other organizations to take such action upon these petitions as it may deem advisable; that it shall advise the Legislature by furnishing it with any information desired and that it may on its own initiative petition or memorialize the Legislature upon any metropolitan affairs.

Section 5 provides that the Bureau of Statistics shall publish all statistics relating to Metropolitan Boston, together with statistics relating to Boston.

Your Committee felt in dealing with this matter that the good of the whole metropolitan district was the question at issue; that they should particularly not lose sight of the fact that the prosperity and welfare of the suburban districts intimately depend upon the prosperity and welfare of the City of Boston; that the whole question should be discussed entirely upon unselfish grounds and that in this discussion we should subordinate entirely the apparent temporary benefit of the City of Newton. Your Committee has throughout attempted to treat the question in this broad way, and approaching it in that way they find that the arguments in favor of the bill of the Chamber of Commerce are along two general lines:

First: That for advertising purposes some sort of a confederation is necessary.

Second: That there are certain advantages to be obtained by governmental co-operation of the cities and towns in the Metropolitan District.

Your Committee believe as a result of their interviews with the sponsors for the movement that the real moving ground for the action of the Chamber of Commerce is the advertising feature of the scheme; that the confederation is merely a means to that end and that if the gentlemen who are back of the movement had not thought the advertising feature was important they never would have suggested the confederation.

For that reason we take up first the position of the Chamber that the confederation would be a real benefit to the district from an advertising standpoint.

The real point at issue is a desire of the Chamber of Commerce to obtain a better statistical rating for Boston as compared with other cities, as now the statistics of Boston, which are reckoned on 38 square miles of area, do not compare favorably with New York figures reckoned on 325 square miles of area, with Chicago reckoned on 190 square miles of area, and with Philadelphia reckoned on 130 square miles of area. It is therefore proposed to reckon the statistics of Boston on the basis of a metropolitan district, with its area of 417 square miles. The Chamber argues that the population of Boston at present is 670,000; that the population of Metropolitan Boston would be 1,423,000; that this would rate Boston fourth in the list of leading American cities instead of fifth as at present; that it would be in the class of first-class cities, consisting of those having a population of a million or more, instead of the list of second-hand cities as at present; that Boston at present in population appears to be 17,000 less than St. Louis, whereas the new rating would make it over 700,000 in population above St. Louis. The Chamber feels that this false rating has cost Boston much business; that business men do not realize the large industrial and commercial area in the valleys of the Charles, the Mystic and the Neponset, and that all this can be remedied by the confederation proposed.

We find that the proposed change in the area of Boston from 38 to 417 square miles reduces the density of population per square mile from 17,000 as at present down to 3,400, which, compared with 14,000 per square mile in New York and 11,000 per square mile in Philadelphia and Chicago, reduces Boston to the level of third and fourth class cities, the small city of Newton having for example a density of 2,600 per square mile.

It appears, however, that the United States Census Bureau at present publishes a list of industrial districts; that the Boston Industrial District is very nearly coincident with the Metropolitan Boston as proposed by the Chamber of Commerce, and it seems to be admitted that if the Census Department could be persuaded to give larger publicity to the figures of industrial districts and to place those figures with the figures of Municipal Boston as the Chamber of Commerce now hopes that the Census Director will place the figures of Metropolitan Boston together with the figures as to Municipal Boston provided some sort of quasi-municipal government of the district be established, and it is admitted that if the figures of the Boston Industrial district could be printed with the figures of Municipal Boston in the same place where it is now promised that the figures as to Metropolitan Boston be placed, everything that this plan is hoped to accomplish will have been done and there would be no need for a confederation on this ground.

Your Committee inquired whether the Chamber had considered the question of the effect that such a rating and such a confederation, not having on its face the usual legitimate municipal functions, would have on other cities and whether, if other cities made similar confederations, Boston would in the end gain or lose, and it was replied that that question had not been considered; that they had not considered, for instance, whether a confederation to include the Chicago Drainage District instead of the present City of Chicago, or a confederation of Oakland or other cities in the immediate neighborhood of San Francisco was likely if this plan should become effective, and if other cities should do this what the effect on the rating of Boston would be. It was admitted that the Metropolitan Boston plan is unjust to the other cities and is not in accordance with the industrial area of Boston as defined by the Census Bulletin No. 101 of the year 1905, which also includes other outlying districts, such as Salem, and that it would be more logical and scientific if equal areas surrounding each city could be compared in the figures given out in the Census Bulletin at Washington and that no effort has yet been made with the Census Bureau along this line of defining fair comparable areas.

For a conservative community like Boston by the creation of a quasi government to ape the struggles of certain far western cities to attain a precocious size seems likely to advertise our infirmities rather than our business and to hold us up to merited ridicule from our neighbors.

The Committee considered with care the suggestion that manufacturing industries go to the large cities and your Committee is clearly of the opinion that no such tendency has yet been proved. We believe that these industries go where natural advantages can be obtained; that New York grows because it is the natural point of transfer for the tremendous traffic from the West and abroad; that Philadelphia grows because of its proximity to tide-water, to the coal and iron mines, and from its natural location as the gateway to the West; that Detroit during the last ten years has become a centre for new industries,—in particular for the manufacture of automobiles, on account of its natural advantages of being near the

An Added Profit

At this bank interest is paid on average daily balances of checking accounts. This makes an added profit for depositors amounting to quite a little in the course of a year—an extra income which will take care of many an item of expense in your business. But the interest paid on deposits is by no means the greatest advantage to be secured from a bank account in a strong and progressive institution like this. The interest and co-operation of the officers of this bank and the fact that you are "known at the bank" will mean a great deal to the success of your business.

REAL BOSTON.

Alderman Albert F. Bemis of Chestnut Hill and City Solicitor Slocum were the sole opponents of the plan of the Real Boston committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, which was presented last Friday night at the American House, Boston, to a meeting of the Chamber, Mr. Bemis, who is a member of the Greater Boston committee of the Newton aldermen, read portions of the report of the committee, which is given in full in another part of this paper. Mr. Slocum called attention to the possibilities of trading under the proposed plan of an advisory council and stated his conviction that the plan would lead directly to annexation. Mr. Franklin W. Gange of Newton favored the plan of the Chamber committee. The sentiment of the meeting was overwhelmingly in favor of the advisory council plan.

centre to a large purchasing area; that manufacturers seek in general smaller cities and towns where they can obtain cheap land and transportation facilities; that Brockton, Lynn, New Bedford, Lawrence, Springfield, Pittsfield, and other manufacturing cities are cogent arguments to the effect that manufacturers seek the small cities. Your Committee believe that the Island of Manhattan, for example, contains few or no large manufacturing industries, which have been forced to the outlying districts or to the West.

We should remember that business is of four kinds: Manufacturing, transporting, selling and financing, and each of them flourishes where it obtains its natural advantages. The steel factories of Pittsburgh naturally are built where the iron and coal are mined and no advertising could possibly induce them to come to Boston. The selling end of the business goes where the market is, as the financing or business routes where the money is. We believe that the selling thrives here now where the business world is fully conversant with the purchasing power of the metropolitan district, as is evident by the activity of the Standard Oil, the Plate Glass and the American Radiator Companies, and other large institutions which are now making every effort to develop their business in this territory, because they realize fully the high purchasing ability of the district.

Your Committee feel that Boston has certain natural advantages as the seat of New England and the home of skilled labor, and because of its unique residential and educational advantages and because it is now well governed, that manufacturers naturally tend to locate in Eastern Massachusetts, and that these advantages have been enhanced in the past by the system of local government we have enjoyed. Boston is now well recognized throughout the world as a leading market for the sale of goods on account of the large purchasing power per capita of its population.

The best answer to the contention of the Chamber of Commerce that can possibly be made on this issue is their own admission that the percentage of industrial increase in Industrial Boston for the last ten years is 9 per cent greater than that of Chicago, 12 per cent greater than Philadelphia, and only 3 per cent less than Greater New York. Your Committee feel that so far as the government of these various places has had any effect upon it, that it is more than probable that the unwieldy misgoverned cities of Philadelphia, Chicago and New York have been at a disadvantage as compared with Boston, governed in large part by local boards. The Committee feel that as to the first and most important claim of the Chamber of Commerce, that the confederation proposed is necessary for advertising purposes, that the Chamber has entirely failed to prove its claim for the reasons above stated; that in the first place the statistical rating may be adjusted without any confederation, and second, that the method proposed would not increase the commerce of Boston.

The second branch of the argument of the Chamber of Commerce is that certain governmental problems affecting the whole district can be better treated by confederation and co-operation.

We think that this argument is a secondary consideration and is introduced solely to bolster up the desire for the advertising feature of the scheme, but your Committee still feel it their duty to consider this question.

The Chamber of Commerce Bill in Sections 3 and 4 provides that the Metropolitan Council shall take action on propositions pending before the Legislature and may also initiate legislation affecting the whole district. Your Committee has noted that this power, although advisory on its face, is of very grave importance; that the recommendations of this body are apt to carry considerable weight and that its membership is therefore of considerable interest.

Each city or town in the Metropolitan District is to have one vote in this Council. An analysis of the forty cities and towns to be included in this advisory Council shows that 28 cities and towns have a population of about 220,000; that the remaining cities have a population of about 1,200,000. Thus in the proposed Metropolitan Council 15 per cent of the population will have a voting power of 70 per cent of the whole body. Your Committee feel further that the proportions of the voice given to valuations and tax-paying capacities in these various cities and towns would probably have somewhere near the same ratio.

The injustice and unreasonableness of this scheme on its face ensures its speedy amendment and it is most likely to be changed into some council of a more nearly representative character with enlarged powers and thus give us all the evils of practical annexation which the Chamber protests so earnestly it does not desire.

This Metropolitan Council is expected by the Chamber to take up the following subjects:

(a) Education: The Chamber suggests that co-operation in educational facilities would be of great value. Your Committee feel that such co-operation as is necessary is now obtained by State institutions and that the schools, so far as they are advised, in the Metropolitan District are now economically and efficiently run and that it would be most unwise to create a central body not conversant with the needs of each district. Your Committee feel that the needs of the various cities and towns in the district are widely divergent, some being manufacturing, some residential and some commercial, and that any central organization to regulate education would be not only useless but positively detrimental.

(b) Housing: The Chamber of Commerce suggests that the housing problem in Metropolitan Boston can be handled better through this confederation, but your Committee is very clearly of the opinion that the building laws of the various cities and towns in the district should not be uniform and that no central authority would be of any assistance on this question. Your Committee feel that towns like Dover and Wellesley have different needs as to their building laws from cities like Boston and Somerville, and should be treated differently.

(c) Disease: The Chamber suggests that plans to the prevention of disease can be better perfected through a confederation, but your Committee feel that the present Boards of Health are vigilant, familiar with, and therefore much better able to cope with local conditions than would be any confederation.

(d) Transportation Problems: The Chamber feels that this Metropolitan Council would be of assistance in dealing with the transportation problems of Boston and the question of radial highways. Your Committee feel that the transportation problems can be much better dealt with as they are at present by permanent State Boards that have the time and the experience to bring technical consideration to bear on the questions involved, rather than by an occasional Metropolitan Council of shifting membership such as proposed by the Chamber of Commerce.

(e) Maritime Affairs: The Chamber suggests that the questions having to do with the development of the Port of Boston should be handled by this Metropolitan Council, but your Committee feel that this question also can be better handled by the Harbor and Land Commission, specially educated on such problems, or even by the Chamber itself, that it could be handled by the body proposed by the Chamber of Commerce.

(f) Police: The Chamber suggests that the Police problems could be better handled by a central authority, but your Committee doubts very much whether a central authority would be of any assistance whatever, but believe that the questions of metropolitan jurisdiction are properly handled now by the State police that there is no necessity of a confederation such as proposed for this object.

(g) Fire Protection: The Chamber of Commerce suggests that more efficient co-operation in times of large conflagrations can be obtained by the confederation, and your Committee note that such co-operation is now being arranged for by the various cities and towns in the district without any confederation such as is desired by the Chamber of Commerce.

(h) Water: Your Committee note that wherever necessary the water problem is now properly handled by State Commissions.

(i) Sewer: Your Committee note that the question of metropolitan sewerage is now properly and efficiently handled, and that without any confederation such as proposed.

(j) Parks: Your Committee believe that the park system of Boston has been well developed by a continuing board better than it could have been developed through a confederation as outlined of shifting membership.

These are the only governmental benefits claimed for the proposition of the Chamber of Commerce, and in considering them your Committee felt greatly handicapped by the evident inadequacy of the study which the Chamber of Commerce has given to the questions involved. No attempt by the Chamber of Commerce was made to show how the same or similar plans have worked elsewhere; no attempt was made to show that large cities or large confederations are apt to be better governed than small ones; no attempt was made to show that the American system of local self-government had proved inadequate in this or any other section of the country. The only loose confederacy relied upon by the Chamber of Commerce was of the thirteen colonies after the Revolutionary war, then of a population not far from that of the Metropolitan District, but the Chamber forgets that the evils of the loose confederacy were so insupportable that it speedily gave way to our present federal constitution with a strong central organization. We believe that the only way to judge the probabilities of the future is by the experience of the past, and see why the reason why the proposed loose confederation should work any better than this notable confederation of a hundred odd years ago. If it does not work, we will have a strong central government, which is another name for annexation.

For matters of general importance our central government now is the legislature and we believe that sufficient. The Chamber does not even claim that the nearest approach to their scheme, the borough system in Greater New York, has worked well, but they state that New York and Chicago are finding that they will soon have to restore the local autonomy of parts of their cities, and we are advised that the consolidations have resulted in great dissatisfaction to the residential districts, an increase in tax rate and waste and a continual strengthening of the central administration, taking more and more power from the local boards.

History proves further that the greatest failure in our American system of government has been found in large, overgrown cities, and we take the liberty of quoting from Bryce's American Commonwealth, pages 241, 242, the following:

"There is no denying that the government of the cities is the one conspicuous failure of the United States. . . . The faults of the state governments are insignificant compared with the extravagance, corruption and mismanagement which mark the administration of most of the great cities. For these evils are not confined to one or two cities. There is not a city with a population exceeding 200,000 where the poison germs have not sprung into a vigorous life."

On page 236 the following:

"The growth of great cities has been among the most significant and least fortunate changes in the character of the United States during the century that has passed."

Your committee notes that the last available census returns show that the total general and service expenses of the various cities in the United States run as follows:

Cities of 30,000 to 50,000—$10.28.
Cities of 50,000 to 100,000—11.72.
Cities of 100,000 to 300,000—12.75.
Cities of 300,000 and over—19.03.

In other words, the smaller cities up to about 300,000 population show a natural increase in expenses due to the increased demands on the government in a larger city over a smaller city, while as soon as the 300,000 mark is passed, the cities above that figure show an abnormal increase of over fifty per cent. These statistics would seem to show that the words of Mr. Bryce are as true today as when they were written.

Your committee feel that certain large special works, such as metropolitan water and sewer and parks, form a proper exception to the natural and general rule of local self-government; that such matters have been handled well in the past, and that there is no reason for any change at the present time, as continuing boards are necessarily more efficient than a shifting untrained political body ever could be. Your committee feel that with these exceptions, which are necessitated only by peculiar conditions in the district, that the local self-government in the district should not be disturbed; that it has worked well in the past and is responsive to the needs of the people.

Your Committee further believe that for proper cohesive government, districts should be in some respects homogeneous in character and that the strongest relationship of the forty cities and towns of the Metropolitan District is Committee note that the district proposed is widely divergent in character; that parts of the district are manufacturing, parts are commercial, and parts are residential, and parts are agricultural; that the district varies widely in wealth, from Brookline and Boston, with a per capita valuation of $2,431, and Chelsea and Lynn, with a per capita valuation of $620, $696 and $651; that the present tax rate of these various cities and towns varies between $23 for Weymouth and $3 for Dover; that the per capita indebtedness varies between Boston, $104.50, Newton, $92.17, Cambridge, $76.10 and Somerville $19.71 down to Dover and Weston, which are free from debt; that the density of population per square mile varies between Boston, 17,000, and Dover, 52; that the valuation of capital devoted to manufactures varies between Boston, $81,000,000, and Milton, $156,000, while many towns in the district have no manufacturing industries sufficient for rating; that the cities and towns in the district have little natural geographical coherence, being served by 13 separate lines of railroad. Your Committee believe that this district, with so many points of divergence, will have divergent interests and that any attempt at a confederation would be like mixing oil and water; that the problems in each municipality are different from the problems in the others, and that the friction arising from any attempt at concerted action is certain to prevent any intelligent consideration of the question at issue.

Your Committee feel that it is its right and duty to consider not merely the face of the bill but its tendencies and probable results. Your Committee note that the pamphlet of the Chamber expressly states that annexation is not its object, but that if the result of the plan proposed would be a central control, either immediate or eventual, of schools, fire, water, police and highways, there is nothing left for local control and the result of taking away these important branches of municipal activity would be a virtual annexation.

We are convinced that the present system of government is an education to the people; that the present boards in the various cities and towns in the district are more responsive to local needs than would be any Metropolitan Council as proposed. We believe that no city or town will have its individual needs as well represented before the Legislature by this Metropolitan Council as at present when three-fifths of the Legislature being residents of other parts of the state are able to treat the matters at issue with an impartial mind; that the result of any action of the Metropolitan Council is likely to be final on the needs of any particular municipality and that the result would be either that no proper action could be obtained or else a system of what is called "log rolling" would result in foisting upon the Legislature many schemes which should not be advanced. Your Committee think that if the proposed Metropolitan Council did not work, that the inevitable tendency would be to give it more power, and that if it accomplished anything at all, the tendency would be then also to increase its power, and for that reason it is a very dangerous step.

Your Committee, in conclusion, are of opinion that commercial Boston is prosperous now and that the Metropolitan District is on the whole well governed now; that its municipal problems of common interest can better be handled as now by the present Metropolitan boards and by the impartial judgment of the Legislature, three-fifths of which are without the district concerned; and that its industrial problems can better be handled by the Chamber of Commerce with its large membership of men thoroughly conversant with commercial needs rather than by a constantly changing board of mayors and selectmen, who would be unable to outline and carry through far-reaching plans for industrial development; that the burden is on the Chamber of Commerce to show that any increase in the commercial prestige of Boston or any important governmental improvement could be obtained by the proposed plan and that the Chamber has entirely failed to show any such results.

Your Committee feel that the plan proposed is without any proper basis of governmental experience; that the statement that no annexation is desired is entirely misleading; that the plan is not likely to accomplish what is desired and is more likely to lead to unfortunate results; that in short it is as futile as it is dangerous, and as dangerous as it is futile, and your Committee are clearly of the opinion that it should not be approved by this Board. We are of opinion that the plan proposed has not yet received any proper study from a governmental standpoint and that it certainly has received little or no discussion in the forty cities and towns interested and that it would be very unwise by hasty legislation to effect this most vital change in the government of the Metropolitan District before full and adequate presentation of both sides of the question have been made.

Your Committee unanimously recommend that the Mayor and City Solicitor be requested to take all proper means in opposition to this proposition.

Arthur W. Blakemore, Secretary.

The statement of Mr. Hugh Bancroft at the meeting of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, that the opposition of Newton was wholly political, was entirely uncalculated and far afield if the Chamber of Commerce committee is sincere in its attitude towards annexation. Under the proposed plan, there can be no possible danger of political annexation with Boston. If the Chamber committee is not sincere, then there is danger of annexation. Newton representatives accepted the position of the Chamber committee and therefore did not present the political side of the case. Undoubtedly Mr. Bancroft represents a considerable element which desires and intends to urge annexation.
The applause which greeted his remarks shows that this feeling is rather widespread, and it only illustrates the great danger which lurks in this so-called "advisory" council. My readers are urged to carefully consider the arguments of the Newton committee on this important matter.

Word has been received from Washington that the statement of the Boston Chamber of Commerce to the effect that the Census Bureau will recognize the proposed federation of Metropolitan Boston in making up its tables in the future, is incorrect.

The Chamber of Commerce owes an apology to every resident of Greater Boston whom it has induced to support its bill on this ground.

FAKE INSPECTORS.

The present Legislature has before it a bill against "fake inspectors" which is tremendously important. If it becomes a law, as it should, it will be a source of great protection to the property, homes, and the comfort of law-abiding people.

Tramps and petty thieves have long made a practice of gaining entrance to stores and homes, especially the latter,
by pretending they are inspectors of one kind or another. Upon gaining entrance they have often been able to steal property of value, and they always terrorize
the people with whom they come in contact.

The bill now before the Legislature provides a penalty of $100 fine or six months' imprisonment, or both, for claiming to be an employee of the gas company, gas and electric light company, company incorporated for the manufacture and sale of electricity for light, heat or power, or water company,
or an employee of the lighting or water
or sewer departments of a municipality.
These provisions include all classes of pretended inspectors, and the bill has already received favorable consideration from those officials where municipal lighting and water plants are in operation.

day afternoon, when the Rev. Julian K.
Smyth of New York will deliver his lecture on "The Character of Sweden-

as one of the chief features of the In-

last July in London, England—a worldwide gathering of scientists, philosophers and theologians, of which H. M. the King of Sweden was patron. It is in-

Castle Square Theatre—The success

formance, the audiences have filled the theatre to overflowing, and there has been no lack of praise both for the new play and its acting by Mr. Craig and the members of his company. It is a decided triumph for Miss Florence Lincoln to have written a play that has succeeded from the outset, and a tribute to Mr. Craig's good judgment in offer-college students, and in making the award to her. The cast will remain un-

The lecture will begin at 8 P. M., and a fine musical program of appropriate vocal and instrumental music will add much to the entertainment. Father Gas-son is the most entertaining and forcible orator in the Boston diocese, and he is thoroughly familiar with his subject, having spent weeks among the peasants of the little town named famous by the Passion Play. The moving pic-

MR. UPHAM BURIED.

The funeral services of the late Alexander M. Upham held at his late home, 14 Churchill avenue last Sunday afternoon were largely attended by relatives, friends and associates in city, church and military life.

Col. Thos. T. Stockton and a party from the "British Naval and Military Veterans of Massachusetts," with bugle, attended in uniform and gave him all military honors, marching to the Newton Cemetery where he was buried.

The Rev. Maurice A. Levy, pastor of the Newton Centre Baptist Church officiated and Miss Marion Burdon and Miss Beulah Mason sang two beautiful hymns.

The floral tributes were many, the piece from city officials being especially appropriate.

Your neighbor has often said to you, "Why I got exactly the same thing for almost half what you paid." To all appearances it IS the same thing—it may be so in reality,—usually it isn't.

Remember that quality, not quantity, governs price. We can sell you certain kinds of any article we carry at almost any price you want to pay, and moreover guarantee it to be what we claim.

Of one thing you may be sure,— your neighbor can not buy elsewhere the same goods at less than you pay us,—and most others will charge more.

Shoe Aristocracy Banished

The "Goodyear Welt" System of shoemaking machines—sixty of them—which reproduce the handicraft of the old-time shoemaker—has banished shoe aristocracy from the land—driven it out forever.

They have leveled to a common plane the footwear of an entire nation. These marvelous machines—intricate and sensitive—utilize the intelligence of skilled operators in the production of shoes that are durable and comfortable as if hand-sewed, but at only one-third the cost.

The foremost shoe manufacturers of the world employ this method in their plants.

The feet of the Army are clad in Goodyear Welts. Shoes made by this method can withstand the severest marches. And they afford the greatest comfort. For these wonderful machines stitch the welt inner-sole and upper together in a seam that doesn't penetrate the inside of the shoe. Even the heavy outsole is lock-stitched to this welt with the seam entirely around the outer edge. The shoe is left smooth inside. Comfort is assured the soldier on his longest march.

Get this comfort for yourself. Just send your name and address. Do it today. It brings you a list of all five hundred different names of Goodyear Welts, the shoes that are real leather and smooth inside. Some are sure to be sold right in your town. Get this list before you buy another pair of shoes. Two booklets will also be sent you free, one graphically describing the sixty machines, the other—"The Secret of The Shoe."

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM CONFERENCE.

On Thursday afternoon, March second, a large number of club women assembled at the Unitarian Building in Watertown to consider the subject of Civil Service Reform. The Watertown Woman's Club being the hostess of the occasion. Miss George A. Bacon, president of the Federation, called the meeting to order.

After a word of greeting from Mrs. Emma J. Davenport, president of the hostess club, and the acceptance of hospitality, Miss Bacon stated that the average club is ignorant of the full scope of civil service reform. It is really at the bottom of all great reforms going on in our country today and is by far the greatest work the club women have yet undertaken. There are, however, two lions in our path, the lion of ignorance and the lion of indifference.

Charles W. Warren, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, was the first speaker. After humorously referring to what phase of the subject he should present, said that he would take up specific cases where the merit system plays an important part in our own lives. Massachusetts every year takes up some new function, which has to be worked out by individuals. No reform rises higher than the person appointed to carry out the reform. As an example he cited the milk inspectors, which a recent law has provided. They were not placed under civil service rules and as a result those who have been appointed to those positions have been anything but competent.

Mr. Warren stated that since the Commission has indicated a health test in applicants for civil service positions, that there has been set going a body of men who are looking out for their health. The attendance at gymnasia has more than doubled and there has been spread through the cities a desire for good health. And good health, he believed, is likely to mean good morals.

Among the civil service rules it is stipulated that every applicant of crime if he has ever been convicted of crime or if he has previously held civil service positions, he must state whether or not he has been dismissed or discharged. A large amount of the Commission's time is given to hearings on the causes of such applicants to ascertain the nature of the charges and to determine whether or not they will in any way affect the eligibility of the applicant. All such cases are given a fair hearing with opportunity for explanation on both sides.

The speaker then considered the conditions existing in institutions which are not under civil service rules. The county institutions come under this head and some of the figures quoted by Mr. Warren were appalling, showing that fitness to perform the office seems to have nothing to do with the appointment.

In one case of nine appointments seven were discharged within a year and in another of 15 appointments 12 were likewise discharged, the chief reasons being drunkenness, furnishing drugs to prisoners and stealing. These county institutions appear to be the dumping ground for all those unfit for other positions. He also cited the case of the city collectors of Boston, which position is exempt from civil service rules. In most cases the appointees had been the ward politicians who had directly assisted in the mayor's election. The dairy farm inspectors and the medical inspectors for the schools of Boston also showed similar unfitness.

Mr. Warren bespoke the earnest support of the women in preventing the passage of the Civil Service bill just then vetoed by Gov. Foss, the bill as presented removing the necessity of mentioning convictions when the applicants were under sixteen years of age.

The extension of civil service rules to county officials he considered of vital importance. In towns at present only the police and firemen are under the rules.

In closing he expressed his appreciation of what the women are doing in these lines and especially in the public schools as the most valuable, for there is the fertile ground.

The next speaker was Miss Anna M. Murphy of Framingham. Miss Murphy came to the conference held last year, but owing to the blizzard on that day very few were able to be present, so she kindly came to the Federation a second time, to tell of the work which is being done in the public schools of Framingham.

The principle, she said, upon which all other reforms depend is that the best shall serve the state. The primary excuse for taking up this work is the forming of good citizens. In the high school the scholars are well taken care of, but as less than 25 per cent reach the senior class the teachers of South Framingham had considered it well to take up the work in the grammar schools. A history of the movement is brought out in connection with their United States history. The teachers find a valuable help in the Civil Service Primer. They endeavor to appeal to the scholars' sense of fair play. Such books as President Lowell's "Democracy and a Permanent Civil Service," C. F. Dole's "American Citizen," "Good Government," the official organ of the Civil Service League, have been helpful.

They never try to force the minds of the children. But the daily press is brought into service, the children bring clippings and read and discuss current events. The need of putting the Boston school physicians under civil service rules has been considered by them. The teachers are trying to impress upon the children's minds not merely the duty of reading the newspapers, but the importance of reading them aright.

They have found great help from the men of the town. The boys consult them on many matters. Last year quite a stir was set in motion toward the consideration of making Framingham a city and the pupils wrote essays upon the subject. A public meeting was held and the essays were read and a prize awarded the best one. Great interest was manifested on all sides.

Miss Murphy stated she found the interest was not confined to the boys, but that many keen, logical responses were given by the girls. The time for this work is taken out of the periods allotted to history and civil government and is correlated with the other work of the grades. For example, in connection with the arithmetic, they take the Civil Service examinations in arithmetic and pass them, which serves to teach them that these examinations, so often exaggerated, are nothing to be feared.

Miss Swan of the Framingham Woman's Club enlarged upon the public meeting, which Miss Murphy had touched upon. Mrs. Bean of Dorchester told of the vote of her club to offer the medal to the Dorchester High School for the best essay and then of their finding that the Boston School Board does not allow any prize of any sort to be offered in the schools. Other clubs in the limits of Boston told of similar experiences.

Mrs. Mahel Rogers Tabor, chairman of the Department, presented the plan for a study class in which representatives of the various clubs could meet and do away with the "lion of ignorance."

Greetings were presented from the Maine, Connecticut and General Federation committees. After which the meeting adjourned for a social and tea with the Watertown members.

3 PRECINCTS IN WARD 2 ALDERMEN HOLD INTERESTING MEETING

The meeting of the aldermen Monday evening was the most interesting one held for many a day. All of the members were present save Alderman Towle who is not well, and there were several matters of great interest discussed. Routine hearings on electric light poles and attachments on Central street, and on telephone attachments on Madison ave. and Valentine st. were quickly held.

The mayor's appointments of George H. Bourne as registrar of voters for three years, and of Dr. C. A. Boutelle as inspector of animals for one year were laid over until the next meeting while his appointment of Chief Randall as forest warden for one year was immediately confirmed. In addition, the mayor sent in a request from the city treasurer for certain transfers, and of Miss Fannie W. Fogg relative to sewer in Oak terrace. The board of health filed its report on the matter of ventilation of street cars, in which it states that no attempt at ventilation is attempted on the Waltham and Newton Centre lines, and that the air is foul. The city engineer requested authority to place street numbers on Adella ave., Annawan road, Armory st., Bigelow road, Central ter., Dearborn ter., Ferncroft road, Fuller st., Gilbert st., Glenmore ter., Hackett st., Milton st., Packard st., Pearl st., Rowe st., Trapelo road, Underwood ave., and Westland ter. Ann Commons asked for soldiers relief and the B. & W. St. Rwy Co. filed appointments of street railway police.

A hearing was then held on the matter of making three voting precincts in ward two. Mr. M. S. Williams for the Bemis estate protested against a line which left that property in the Nonantum precinct, as it would hurt its development. He thought the line should run in the rear of this estate. Mr. L. E. G. Green said it was a difficult problem, but he did not think it fair to him to divide his land by running the division line on a sewer easement he had given the city some years ago. Mr. G. W. Auvansen, said he represented about $7500 of property near the Judkins street district, and believed the line should be run thru Ashmont ave. and Hawthorne ave. where he said the coal mine raised the price of coal 25 cents a ton. He said that it was hoped to make this low land a playground and it would therefore make a good division between Nonantum and Newtonville. He also urged leaving the matter open until another year. Mr. H. M. Stone met also said that as it was impossible to obtain a line to suit everybody it should go over till next year. Mr. A. P. Carter, who took particular pains to say that he represented several interests, but failed to state that he was chairman of the republican city committee, said there was no question but this line would injure property which does not properly belong in the new precinct. He did not believe in the necessity for the new precinct and claimed that the voters in the Nonantum section worked in Newton and had ample time to vote. He thought that the matter had not been fully considered and also wanted it put over till next year. He strongly opposed the suggestion of Alderman Cox that the voting booth of the present precinct should be located at the Adams school, instead of in Newtonville square, as at present Mr. William Price president of the Newtonville Improvement Association protested against action now, as insufficient time had been given. He claimed the east side of Nevada street as a part of Newtonville.

Alderman Blakemore read the lengthy report of the committee on Greater Boston, which is given in full elsewhere in this paper.

On recommendation of committees $4400 was authorized for expenses of Water department, authority granted to remove certain dangerous trees, sewer charges and assessments levied. The B. & A. R. Co. granted permission to keep hydro carbon oil at Newton and Riverside yards, C. Wilbur Thompson gave a gasoline license, Louis Guzzi a minor's license, John A. Feeley and Deader & Hushen, wagon license and John McFale a carriage license. The Telephone Co. was given attachments on Favette and Green sts. and the mayor and city solicitor authorized to oppose an advisory council for the metropolitan district. Leave to withdraw was given on the claim of Arthur E. Marr for cutting down tree, on application of Mary E. Calnan for soldiers relief.

on license petitions of Gregory LaRosa for pool table and John A. Feeley for liquor transportation permit and inexpedient voted on a new fire station for West Newton hill.

The real fun began when Alderman Moore called up the order making three precincts in Ward 2. Alderman Moore said that the committee had given two hearings on the matter besides the one held that evening. The committee was unanimous in its report. The present voters in the Nonantum district were under a hardship to vote, which would not be tolerated in other parts of the city. It was not considered advisable to change the location of the voting booth. He had been advised by a large real estate operator that a precinct line would not affect property values. It was impossible to draw a line which would suit everybody and a delay would not change the situation as the same conditions would exist next year as now. Alderman Avery stated that sentiment did affect property values and that two large estates would be injured by the line as proposed. His motion to lay on the table, although clearly not in order, was defeated 12 to 6.

President Jones then made the most unusual ruling that as 6 members opposed consideration at this time he would rule that the charter provision prohibiting further action for one week became effective and the order would be on the table. He invited an appeal from this ruling, which was promptly taken on motion of Alderman Cox. The chair was not sustained, by a vote of 9 to 8.

Alderman Gray thought the conditions required a new precinct but wanted a different line that the one proposed. Alderman Calkins said he had been over every inch of the ground and found that the voters in this section averaged a trip of 7-10 of a mile each way, every time they went to vote. The city should not put them to this inconvenience. The proposed line, in his judgment was the best possible line to be drawn.

Alderman Blakemore thought the Board had been discourteous to the chair in overruling his decision, and wanted the opinion of the city solicitor as to the legality of action this evening. Alderman Moore said the board ought to act at once as the assessors needed time to have their books prepared before April first.

Mr. Slocum gave his opinion that a charter objection must be raised as such and that the chair had no right to assume that a negative vote to lay on the table was an objection under the charter. He also stated that the second charter objection was entirely independent of the first charter objection.

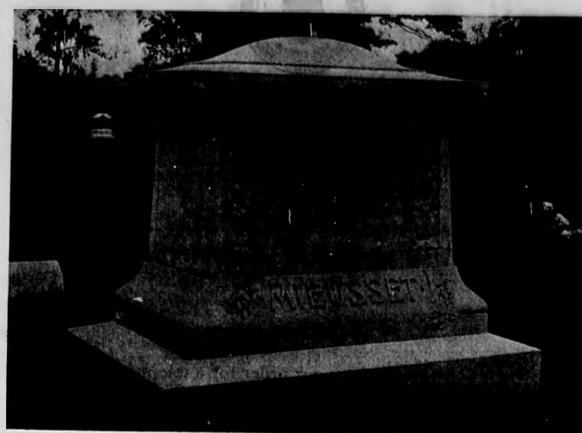

The previous question was immediately raised on the amendment offered by Alderman Moore, and it was adopted. The previous question was also moved on the order as amended and it was adopted 13 to 5. As one of the aldermen who had been opposing the committee was noticed voting for the order, Alderman Heard promptly moved a reconsideration and had that motion laid on the table. This is the first time in the recollection of the writer that the previous question and the tabling of a motion to reconsider has never been made in our city government.

Another debate came over the motion of Alderman Avery to authorize $100 for printing the report of the Greater Boston Committee. It was opposed by Alderman Cox, who thought it a waste of money, and was carried by a vote of 16 to 3. The board adjourned at 10.25.

GOOD ADVICE

To the Editor of the Graphic.
Sir:—

There has been so much misunderstanding, and as a consequence, so much unnecessary alarm, about scarlet fever at the Underwood School, that a frank and authoritative statement in regard to the situation during the past month seems necessary. In the first place, permit me to say that there is not now, and has not been, anything in the slightest degree resembling an epidemic.

The facts are as follows: during the seventy-two hours ending Feb. 13th, four cases of scarlet fever were reported from the school. This number, while in no way alarming, was enough to warrant special efforts to prevent any increase, and the medical inspector of the district was requested to examine the children very carefully every day, as from the sudden outbreak, it was probable that a "missed case" was present in the school.

The room was not disinfected, for, if the cause was a "missed case" disinfection would be useless.

In some way the parents became unduly alarmed, and on Feb. 14th only fifteen children out of a normal of forty, appeared in the room where the trouble occurred.

This at once minimized the value of the inspection, as it removed the absence from supervision. Nevertheless the extra daily inspection was continued, and the teachers were instructed not to allow any of the absentees to return to the class room until after an inspection by the school physician. No missed cases were found and no more cases occurred among the children at school during that week or the following one.

On Feb. 27th when the school reopened after the recess, a casual inspection of all the children was made, and they were allowed to resume work.

On March 4th another case was reported, but a careful study of the history showed that the child had been in school only two days since the reopening after the recess, too short a time to have contracted the disease in the school. It also appeared that she was one of those kept at home during the previous fortnight.

A study of the incident shows two facts: first, that no cases developed after Feb. 13th among those children who continued at school, and second, that the alarm felt by the parents was wholly unwarranted and due to lack of acquaintance with the facts.

In conclusion, permit me to urge upon all parents having children in the schools, the advisability of calling upon the Board of Health for information, should similar conditions occur in the future.

The Board is always willing to explain its action to any interested person, and to give the facts as far as they have been ascertained. And it is facts rather than baseless rumors that the parents should have.

Very truly yours,
FRANCIS GEO. CURTIS, M. D.
Chairman, Board of Health.

MR. LUCAS DEAD

Rodney M. Lucas, one of the oldest residents of Newton, died last Thursday evening at his home on Hunter street, West Newton, after several months of failing health. He was in his eighty-seventh year and had lived in Newton since he was nine years old.

Mr. Lucas was born in Northumberland, N. H., in 1824. His parents were Le Grand and Susanna (Marshall) Lucas. His grandfather, Major James Lucas, was a commissioned officer in the Revolutionary War and his great-grandfather, who was Scotch, was formerly a ferryman between Boston and Cambridge.

Mr. Lucas was one of four children and previous to going to Newton the family lived in Weston. He was educated in the public schools of Newton and learned the trade of a carpenter. In 1849 he joined the gold seekers, making the trip by way of Cape Horn in a schooner in which he held part ownership. He had poor luck at gold-digging, but his trade stood him in good stead and he worked for several months at building barracks for the soldiers at the frontier posts. He spent three years in California and Oregon.

In 1862 Mr. Lucas enlisted in Company R, Forty-fourth Massachusetts Infantry, under Captain John M. Griswold and Colonel Francis Lee; the regiment was attached to Stephenson's brigade of the Eighteenth Army Corps. Mr. Lucas saw his first service in North Carolina and was in the battles of Kingston, Whitehall, Goldsboro and Little Washington. In 1863 he was honorably discharged because of physical disability.

Returning home, he engaged in business as a builder and later handled real estate. He was a constable in Newton for thirty years and served in the police department for a year. He was also chief engineer of the fire department for four years and was president of the Newton Veteran Firemen's Association for six years. Mr. Lucas was a past commander of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., of Newtonville. In 1853 he married Miss Jane S. Flagg of Boston, who survives him with a son, Walter M. Lucas of Waltham.

The funeral services, held Sunday afternoon were largely attended, with many comrades in attendance. The services were in charge of Commander Albert Plummer of Charles Ward Post and the post chaplain, Samuel P. Post, and were impressively carried out. Miss Louise Chisholm and Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley sang "Shadows," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Home at Last." There were many beautiful flowers. The interment was at Newton Cemetery, and the pall bearers, all members of the post, were Messrs Samuel A. Langley, Charles Ogden, John Flood and John Ryan.

BASKET-BALL.

After five minutes' overtime Newton V. M. C. A. beat Bridgewater normal school, 34 to 30 at Bridgewater Saturday night. The game was one of the roughest ever played there and the referee was kept busy calling fouls. At the end of the two 20-minute periods the teams were tied at 28 points. William Cady the Newton high school captain, scored 24 points. He caught seven goals from the floor and 10 points on free tries.

BRAE BURN CLUB.

The directors of the Brae-Burn C. C. have approved a $75,000 bond issue, the funds of which are to purchase about 125 acres in West Newton which the club now uses but does not own. The club already owns the land upon which its large clubhouse stands, as well as some of the adjacent ground.

WORDS OF PRAISE.

In Boston we have grip, diphtheria and scarlet fever, not to speak of other "seasonable" afflictions, and we do not boast of it. In Newton, which is significantly free from such diseases, congratulations are being exchanged on that account, and the jubilant echo is loud enough to reach the metropolis. There are 40,000 people in Newton; there is not a case of diphtheria in Newton, and in the matter of other complaints the record is correspondingly clear. Much of the credit for this ideal condition belongs to the admirable Newton Hospital, which is almost as active in preventing disease as it is in curing it. An efficient Board of Health, which heartily cooperates with the hospital, is entitled to share in the glory, but no citizen wastes time in attempting to asportion its exact percentage of the credit. The essential fact is the immunity of a municipality which is large enough to maintain several epidemics, and very likely would do so if its conservators of health, the hospital staff, had not put epidemics out of fashion.

SCHOOL GARDENS

The Social Science Club is planning to carry on this summer the School and Home Gardens for children which proved so successful last year. One gentleman who visited our School Garden last summer said that he had visited many all over the country, including the well-known Cleveland Gardens, and that the Newton garden was much better than the average and compared favorably with any that he had seen.

This year we hope to benefit by last year's experience and do the work better and with less expense. We have procured an excellent director and we feel sure that if we have the same generous support of the citizens that we had last year, our success will be assured.

We shall need nearly $200.00 of which the Social Science Club can only provide about $50.00 owing to the heavy drafts made upon us by our work with the Day Nursery, the Newton Hospital, etc. Subscriptions, therefore, are earnestly solicited from all who are interested and may be sent to the chairman or any member of the committee: Miss Fannie M. Adams, Mrs. George Angier, Mrs. F. E. Boitfield, Mrs. Joseph L. Colby, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Henry O. Marcy, Jr., Mrs. Charles O. Tucker, Mrs. Fred H. Tucker, Mrs. L. S. Drake, chairman, 24 Bennington street, Newton.

GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT.

Monday evening, March 13th was gentlemen's night at the West Newton Women's Educational Club. The three act comedy, "Miss Fearless and Co." was presented by members of the club in Player's Small Hall, West Newton.

The play was given under the direction of Mrs. Harry L. Wells, business manager and Miss Amy V. Deal, stage manager. The cast included Mrs. John R. McLean, Mrs. Arthur B. Munroe, Mrs. Harry S. Wells, Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley, Miss Ethel Morgan, Mrs. Walter A. Beidle, Mrs. Geo. W. St. Anant, Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson, Mrs. Sidney Sargent and Mrs. Chas. E. Conant.

The play was admirably acted and as one amusing situation followed another the laughter and applause became almost continuous.

It was a genuine success judging by the very evident pleasure of the spectators and the liberal applause which was showered upon the players.

Following the play came a reception. The president, Mrs. T. M. Howell and officers of the club in the receiving line. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Fred Young and Mrs. McIntosh. Candy was sold by Miss Ruth Beidle and Miss Dorothy Farnham. The ushers were Mrs. Ernest Fogg, Mrs. Frederic Sargeant and Mrs. Samuel N. Fleming.

Dancing followed until a late hour. The Leutz orchestra furnishing the music.

SWEDENBORG

LECTURE BY REV. JULIAN K. SMYTH

Despite the inclement weather and the early hour there was hardly a vacant seat in the Church of the New Jerusalem, Newtonville, last Sunday afternoon, when the Rev. Julian K. Smyth of New York gave his celebrated lecture on "Swedenborg's Illumination". The audience was admirably justified in its anticipations, for the lecture had all the qualities which have won the Rev. Mr. Smyth his high position among pulpit orators.

The speaker began by a comparison of Emanuel Swedenborg the seer and investigator to the intrepid voyager of whose race he came. There was no field of human knowledge into which he did not carry his inquiries. Starting with the more material sciences, he first won international fame as a mathematician, a geologist and a metallurgist. Having acquired all the knowledge of these subjects which his age had to offer he turned his attention to physiology and anatomy, making discoveries along these lines that the most advanced students of today are beginning to acclaim with amazement. But these subjects in their turn aroused an interest in philosophy and psychology, and in these too Swedenborg became preeminent.

But through all this there had been in the great thinker's mind a deeper and underlying purpose, which was to discover the nature of the soul, and the real cause of material phenomena. Toward this goal his adventurous spirit, through endless experiment, was aiming. And in the end his purpose was achieved, but by different means than any that he had anticipated. He was forced finally to the conclusion that the facts of spirit were not to be obtained by mere scientific investigation, and that he must set aside altogether his adventurous spirit and hold to the new watchword of humility, that God might teach him what of himself he could not know.

MUSIC AT TRINITY CHURCH.

Elaborate changes are taking place in the musical organization of Trinity Church, Newton Centre. The choir is in process of changing from quartet to a vested mixed choir of about eighteen voices. The seating arrangements for the choir are being increased and vestments will be worn with the full choir in attendance for the first time on Easter Day. Morgan L. Cooley has been engaged as organist and choir master and fourteen voices have already been selected. There remain four vacancies and applications can be made to Mr. Cooley, Bradford Court, Newton Centre. This should be attended to promptly as the remaining selections will be made as soon as possible in order to have full preparation for the Easter music. Immediately after Easter rehearsals will commence for the presentation of one of the more important cantatas which will probably be rendered on Ascension Day. Mr. Cooley's experience has been a broad one covering studies with leading church musicians of this country and an extensive practical experience with boy choirs, quartettes, and mixed choirs. A number of his compositions have been published and are widely used.

N. H. S.

The Newton high girls defeated Cambridge high and Latin, 28 to 10. Saturday in the Newton high gymnasium. Miss Tewksbury carried off the honors for Newton, with seven goals from the floor. Miss Clapp scored four baskets from the floor and Miss Paine made four points on free tries and one goal from the floor. Good work for the losers was done by Miss Johnson, Miss Jonas and Miss Raymond. The gallery enthusiastically applauded the local massed "Banks" Granger, who wore the school colors and played with the ball between the periods.

This fact once realized, he set aside, then, all his ambitions for eminence in the world of science, and set himself to a thorough study of the Scriptures. What such an abnegation must have meant we can only dimly recognize, for he never boasted or complained, but it stands almost unrivalled as an act of quiet heroism in the cause of conscience. It was this spirit which made his "illumination," as it is called, a possibility. Through it he was able to have experiences and to acquire knowledge which have never fallen to any other man's lot. Through it he became the human medium of a system of religious truth whose influence is deepening and widening in all schools of thought from day to day.

But he himself has always been neglected and misunderstood, except by a very few. The opposition of the conservatives to his theological views obscured until recently even the fame of his scientific achievements, and in his personal life he remains what Carlyle calls him, "a man beautiful, lovable, tragic"—beautiful in the calm power and serenity of his purpose, lovable for the sweetness and humility of his character, and tragic because his greatest aim and the cause of his self-sacrifice have been so often and so hopelessly misunderstood.

A course of lectures entitled "New Light on Old Problems," by different speakers, will be begun next Sunday evening at the church on Highland avenue. It will be its purpose to make clear the radical and distinctive teaching which Swedenborg offers on such subjects as "Business," "Marriage," "Childhood" and "The Bible." The first lecture will be that on "Business," and the speaker will be the Rev. John Goddard, the pastor of the church. The public is invited to all these lectures, which are entirely free.

The public are cordially invited to a meeting to be held in the Unitarian parish house at West Newton on Thursday, March 23d at 8.00 P. M. under the auspices of the West Newton Women's Alliance.

Mr. Charles E. Kelsey of Newton Centre will speak on Village Improvements and Mr. George Hutchinson of West Newton will speak on the subject Has West Newton Needs and Possibilities. The addresses will be illustrated with the stereopticon.

"KEEPING UP APPEARANCES."

"Don't you think it is heartless extravagance in Mrs. Grundy to come out with two new evening gowns already this season, when her husband is just beginning to get a little practice?" remarked Mrs. Grundy to her neighbor. "You are mistaken about her extravagance," was the reply. "For I happen to know that both the gowns you refer to were a part of her wedding outfit two or three years ago, which she has lately dyed with those lovely new shades of Rainbow Dyes."

"Well, I am surprised, but it must have cost considerable to have them dyed and made over," continued Mrs. Grundy. "A mere trifle, Mrs. Grundy, the price of two packages of Rainbow Dyes, for the gowns were dyed at home without ripping, and she touched them up with fresh laces so cleverly as to deceive even your sharp eyes."

"I never would have believed it if you hadn't told me," rejoined Mrs. Grundy. "but it is wonderful how some folks can keep up appearances on little or nothing to do with: good afternoon."

MRS. WARREN DEAD.

Mrs. Mary F. Warren the wife of Geo. B. Warren of 523 Ward street, Newton Centre, passed from this life on Saturday morning after an illness of the preceding night only.

The sudden but peaceful end was from an apoplectic stroke. Mr. Warren and a daughter survive her.

Mrs. Warren was the daughter of Capt. Harvey P. Cook who sailed in the West Indian trade for many years. Until middle life she lived in Hyde Park. Later, and when she came to Newton she was widely known as a china decorator and teacher.

The funeral services at the house on Tuesday were conducted by the Rev. Edward M. Noyes of the First church in Newton. The Mendelssohn Quartet sang and the floral tributes were most numerous and beautiful. Burial was in the family lot in Milton cemetery.

LODGES.

The Mt. Ida Council, Royal Arcanum, celebrated their 21st anniversary of its organization Wednesday evening in Denison hall, Newtonville, with a large gathering of friends present. A supper was served to the members and friends at 6.30, followed by an interesting entertainment. The entertainment consisted of a playlet entitled "No Man Wanted," in which Miss Marion Bassett, Miss Ruth Cunningham and Miss Grace Brown participated, and several vocal selections by the Emmanuel quartet, composed of Theodore Morton, Beverly G. Secord, Harold Moore and Samuel A. Gardner, both of which were well received by the audience. Following the entertainment dancing was enjoyed until 12. The committee in charge were Henry Goodwin, O. George W. Mills, S. K. Billings, PR. and W. Y. Royal.

John Eliot Lodge No. 149 A. O. U. W. celebrated its eighteenth anniversary and ladies' night on Wednesday evening March 15th. The hall was well filled with members and friends who listened to a most enjoyable entertainment given by the M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company. Refreshments were served after which dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Everybody went home happy and many remarks it rendered them of the old time social events of John Eliot Lodge.

D. A. R.

The March meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton took the form of a luncheon given at the Newton club house, in honor of the State Regent, Mrs. James G. Dunning of Springfield: Miss Susan B. Willard of Hingham and Miss Harriet Dean of Rochester were also guests of honor. The committee in charge, Mrs. F. W. Pray and Mrs. A. S. Pratt deserve great credit for the attractive decorations and delicious luncheon: with the daughters of members serving as waitresses. The business meeting followed the luncheon at which the Regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend presided, introducing Mrs. Dunning, who spoke of the need for co-operation in the work of patriotic education. Miss Willard gave a greeting, and Miss Dean followed with an earnest plea for the work among the Southern mountain whites. She has just returned from a southern trip where she visited Miss Berry's school at Rome, Georgia, and Maryville College, among many other schools.

The meeting closed with the singing of "America."

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

All the Newtons 296 Walnut St., Newtonville

Possibly Representative Newton was indulging in a joke when he introduced into the lower house on Beacon Hill the other day Mrs. Charlotte Smith's bill to put a tax on bachelors.

In James Forbes' comedy, "The Commuters," at the Park Theatre, there is a bachelor who needs to be studied by both friends and foes of his social status. Mr. Forbes has written a charming play, somewhat farcical, to be sure, but none the less sparkling, around this bachelor person, whose individuality and temperament baffle the feminine representation in the audience, first by arousing its ire and then its admiration. This footlight bachelor innocently draws the reprobation of the wives of all his friends, becomes unjustly the means of nearly disintegrating a happy household, and in the end is the chief instrument of a splendid bit of character drawing, as cleverly enacted, by the way, as it is conceived by the author.

Mr. Forbes has wrought well with his Sammy Fletcher, bachelor. After one has seen "The Commuters" there is no doubt left as to what Mr. Forbes thinks of bachelors. He must approve of 'em. Else he would never have manufactured Fletcher. It might be a wise suggestion to the opponents of the Newton bill, to they fear for the consequences, to invite Mr. Forbes to argue before the committee. Or, better still, why not have the committee—the whole Legislature for that matter—go down to see "The Commuters" and learn what great good can be accomplished by a bachelor—Boston American.

Hollis Street Theatre—David Belasco will present Frances Starr at the Hollis Street Theatre Monday, for a limited engagement in "The Easiest Way". Eugene Walter's greatest play. She will have the support of the New York cast, including Joseph Kilgour, Edward H. Robins, John P. Brown, Louise Randolph and Violet Raud, and the scenic equipment will be identical with that provided by David Belasco for the two years' run of the play at the Belasco Theatre in New York. In direct and convincing manner "The Easiest Way" depicts that aspect of New York life which is concerned with the tragedy of those women who are so wedded to luxury that they will pay almost any price for its enjoyment. The theme is handled in a serious and telling manner. Inasmuch as "The Easiest Way" is produced under the personal direction of David Belasco, there is no necessity to dwell upon the perfection of its setting. The first act discloses a scene of exquisite beauty amid the rolling foothills of the Rockies, radiant in the golden light of the afternoon sun. Not less faithful is the theatrical boarding house interior shown in the second act which is followed by a superb setting of the interior of an apartment in an expensive hotel in New York. The evening performances will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock and the matinee at 2:00 o'clock.

Boston Theatre—The third week of the highly successful engagement of "Naughty Marietta" with Mlle. Emma Trentini, the fascinating little prima donna, in the title role will begin at the Boston Theatre next Monday night. Since the advent of this new Victor Herbert opera, crowded houses have listened to the wonderful singing of the tiny cantatrice and marvelled at her splendid acting and vivacity. As the runaway heiress of a noble Italian house who comes to America to escape being forced into a loveless marriage and who later becomes involved in many intrigues and ludicrous situations, Mlle. Trentini displays all her vocal and histrionic charms for which she has become celebrated. First comedy honors naturally go to Miss Kate Elinore, who as Lizette, a casquette girl, of uncertain age in search of a husband is intensely funny. Harry Cooper, a comedian who really can sing divides honors with Miss Elinore and the rest of the cast is most admirable. The chorus and orchestra are of course up to the Hammerstein standard and the entire production is one of extreme gorgeousness.

B. F. Keith's Theatre—Madam Adelaide Norwood, for six years prima donna with the Henry W. Savage grand opera company will next week head one of the strongest bills offered at B. F. Keith's Theatre this season. Mme Norwood will be heard in one of the best programs ever offered in vaudeville by a grand opera star, her selections ranging from Wagner's "Ride of the Valkyrie" to such popular favorites as "Come Back to Erin." The surrounding bill is intended for laughing purposes only. Harry Tighe and his Collegians will appear in a new comedy called "The Careless Sophomore," and it abounds in clean, wholesome humor from start to finish. Morton and Moore will appear in an original singing and dancing act, introducing some of their famous eccentric dances. Mack and Orth are another new team, who have a splendid musical sketch called "The Wrong Hero," and other big features will be Brown, Harris and Brown, in "Just to Laugh," The Sensational Boies, called "The Human Arrowplanes" in their sensational casting act; Leon Rogee, the mimic and entertainer; and Strength Brothers in extraordinary feats of equilibrium.

Tremont Theatre—Margaret Anglin and her merry comedy "Green Stockings" seem to have caught on hugely in Boston where at the Tremont Theatre crowded houses are prevailing. On Friday afternoon, March 24, the distinguished actress will give an exposition of her wonderful versatility by creating the role of Phaedra in a posthumous blank verse drama called "Limpidus" that was written by the late Julia Ward Howe over 50 years ago for Edwin Booth and Charlotte Cushman. The proceeds of this special performance which is under the distinguished patronage of the Governor of Massachusetts and ex-Governor Draper, the Mayor of Boston, and a large number of leaders in literature, fine arts and society, will be devoted to the Julia Ward Howe Memorial. A tremendous amount of public attention has been aroused throughout Massachusetts in this interesting event and it is evident that a large and brilliant gathering will assemble at the Tremont Theatre for the occasion. Last summer in California Margaret Anglin appeared in a production of the Antigone of Sophocles and her reading and acting in the great tragedy are said to have created a sensation on the Pacific slope. Consequently the curiosity of Boston has been set on edge and Miss Anglin is sparing no pains to give Mrs. Howe's play a meritorious presentation.

Castle Square Theatre—Another extension of the run of the "End of the Bridge" will bring it to its third and final week at the Castle Square. Beginning Monday, Miss Lincoln's Harvard prize play will enter upon its last performances, with every sign of audiences that will fill the theatre to the doors. Its success has been tremendous and unexpected, and its combination of humor and emotion as in no small degree responsible for its popularity. The story that it has to tell is lucid, wholesome and entertaining, and its characters and scenes are taken directly from the life of today. The acting by Mr. Craig and his company is in every way heartily commendable. Miss Young's impersonation of Joan Mannerling, and Miss Mc-

Dannel's portrayal of the little boy Peter being the features of the performance. Mr. Craig's Dr. Garret is a physician to the life, and good work is also done by Mr. Hassell, Mr. Walker and Miss Colcord.

WOMEN'S CLUBS NEWS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The Club Editor is moved to make a few remarks upon the club president's telephone. She happens to be on the same line with a club president and at times her heart fairly aches for her. How that poor woman has time to do anything else but answer her telephone is a mystery at times, for it rings in season and out of season. One president, she knows, was brave enough to publicly limit the hour within which she was available to her members and from all accounts it worked well. If every president would follow that example, she might be saved much annoyance and the office cease to become a hodgepodge both to herself and to the other members of her family. It goes without saying that the telephone is indispensable, but a little of the milk of human kindness may keep it a blessing and prevent it from becoming a curse.

A paper on "The Cape Cod Canal" was presented to the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning of last week by Mrs. J. Wesley Barber. This, she said, is a very old project, for very soon after the Pilgrim settlement in Plymouth there began to be talk about cutting a passage through from Cape Cod Bay to the water on the south. As early as 1776 a commission was appointed. In 1791 a survey was made and from time to time throughout the 19th century the matter was agitated and later abandoned. In 1907 work was really begun in earnest and if no unforeseen delay arises the Cape Cod Canal will be a realized fact by the fall of 1912. August Belmont of New York is president of the company and the financial backer of the project.

The canal follows the course of the Manomet River, wrongly known as the "Monument" River, crossing the Cape at its narrowest part and following what was once probably a natural waterway to the northern side near Sandwich. Owing to the difference in depth of the tides on the two sides of the Cape and from the three hour difference in their height at the two ends it is figured that there will be a current running through the canal practically all the time, part of the time in one direction and part in the opposite. This fact will be of great advantage preventing, it is hoped, the freezing over during the winter. There are to be no locks. The problem is a comparatively simple one, there being no obstacles save glacial bowlders which are blasted away with dynamite. The total length is eight miles. Huge breakwaters at the northern end will prevent the washing in of sand and also make a shelter for tugs and barges in tow to straighten themselves out and enable them to enter the canal properly. It will save 66 miles in distance and eliminate the most dangerous part of the all-water journey from New York to Boston.

It is predicted that a large industrial centre will grow up along its banks and bring to the front again the once prosperous Cape region.

The Executive Committee of the Auburn Review Club handsomely entertained the members and their guests at the Congregational chapel on Monday evening March 6. Liza Lehmann's "Daisy Chain" was rendered by a quartet composed of Mrs. W. K. Cole, Mrs. May Sleeper Rogers, Mr. Charles F. Wood and Mr. Waldo W. Cole, with Mrs. Nelson Freeman at the piano. Mrs. William Fuller read the poem, "At the close of the program Mrs. Edward F. Miller, Mrs. William A. Knowlton, Mrs. F. E. Davidson, Mrs. Charles D. Pickard and Mrs. William A. Gordon comprising the Executive Committee, received the guests. Miss Bridgman, Miss Dike, Miss Knowlton, Miss Miriam Fuller and the Misses Davidson, some of the older daughters of the club, acting as ushers. Light refreshments were served during the social hour. Mrs. Heron and Mrs. Almy presided over the ice cream and Mrs. Hildreth and Mrs. Peloubet over the coffee, assisted by some of the younger daughters. Miss Julia Pickard, Miss Lillian Draper, Miss Evelyn Fuller, Miss Dorothy Gore, Miss Mildred Knowlton, and the Misses Carolyn and Miriam Heron. The affair may be characterized as a brilliant social success and a wholly delightful occasion.

On Tuesday morning of last week the Review Club met with Mrs. Waldo W. Cole and continued its study of drama. Edmund Rostand's "Chanticleer" was the subject of consideration. Those taking the parts were, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Frost, Miss Smith and Miss Haskell, assisted by Mrs. Cole, Miss Louise Davidson, while Mrs. Freeman rendered the "Nightingale" upon the piano. The reading was enlivened by the presence of a real rooster.

On Thursday, March 9, before the Newton Centre Woman's Club the Lotus Quartet with Mr. Almon J. Fairbanks at the piano gave a Morning of Song. The audience was most enthusiastic in its reception of the artists.

An unusual precedent has been established by the ruling of the president of the aldermen and the opinion of the city solicitor that a second charter objection
can be raised, even if a first objection has not been made. The unusual procedure has been for the first objection
under the charter to carry the matter over to the next meeting, when further objection from five members would make a further delay of one week. The new ruling states that if the matter, lies over to the second meeting for any cause, whatsoever, five members can raise the charter objection at that time.
A careful reading of the charter shows that the charter objection provisions are contained in one sentence, and that the second objection is clearly predicted on the fact that the matter has been laid over under the first objection. The ruling reverses the decisions given on this matter when the charter was new and its provisions enforced by the men who were instrumental in framing it.

The action of the aldermen in creating three voting precincts in ward two is to be commended, altho the opposition was considerable. The conditions clearly indicate that a large number of voters have been inconvenienced by the location of the voting booth at the extreme side of the precinct, and out of the way for over 300 voters. The fact that these voters yield their allegiance to the Democratic party ought to have no weight in the matter, altho it is to be regretted that the strong opposition encountered, was said to emanate from Republican sources. The aldermen owe it to themselves and to the city itself to be decent and fair about these matters, and I believe their action will be endorsed by every right minded citizen.

The action of the Legislature in passing over the veto of Governor Foss,
the bill to limit the inquiry of the civil service commission into the history of applicants for examination is to be deplored and those Republicans who thought to get back at the Governor, because he was a Democrat will be sadly mistaken. All the Newton representatives and Senator Mulligan were recorded as with the Governor and should be congratulated on their good judgment.
If any one in Newton has a good opinion of how the national Senate transacts or fails to transact public business, now is the time for him to speak.

UNITARIAN CLUB.

The monthly meeting of the Unitarian Club was held last evening in the parlors of Channing Church. The reception was at 6.15, dinner following at 6.30 in the banquet hall. After a short business session Dr. William C. Farabee of Harvard University spoke briefly of the trade relations between the United States and the South American and Central American countries and stated that the reason we have so little business
there is the lack of confidence the southern people have in us, inadequate facilities for carrying on trade and a wrong conception of their business methods.
Later, in the parlors, Dr. Farabee gave a lecture on "The Region and People of the Upper Amazon." He described a recent visit to Peru and with the aid of stereoscopic views related his experiences on several trips into the woods and mountains, the manners and customs of the natives, the rubber industry and the wonderful scenery and vegetation. The club will observe "Ladies' Night" Thursday, April 20th when Mr. Francis E.
Stanley will give an address on "Aviation."

vard Medical School, will speak before the Social Science Club on "Vivisection." Guests may be invited. Prof.
Cannon speaks with authority upon this subject and will welcome any questions from the club women.

The Social Service committee of the

ers itself fortunate in having secured

club on Thursday morning at ten o'clock upon "The New Nationalism." Outsiders may attend upon the payment of the usual fee.

The spring conference of presidents of the Federated clubs will be held at Bainbridge on Tuesday, March 21, at 2 P. M. The subject for discussion will be "Which line of club or Federation work is of greatest value to your club or community?"

At the meeting of the Monday Club
on March 13, Mrs. Anna Sturgis Durney gave an admirable paper upon "Baroness von Suttner." Mrs. Shumway rendered a solo upon the piano. Members will be notified individually of the place of meeting for next week.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met with Miss Webster on Monday afternoon, a large number being present.
Miss Ruth Abbott of Waban was in charge of the program, continuing the Scientific Achievements of America.
Her paper dealt particularly with the civil engineering, the building of dams and tunnels and canals. Considerable time was devoted to a description of the Panama Canal.

The members of the Waban Women's Club listened to a delightful stereoscopic lecture on Monday afternoon when Mr. Ralph E. Towle gave an informal talk upon the Oberammergau Passion Play of 1910. Mr. Towle spoke of the simplicity of the Oberammergau passion play, of his aims, and his ambitions, showing views of the beautiful children both while at play and in costumes for the children play no small part in the production.

Having visited the historically quaint town several times and knowing many of the peasants personally Mr. Towle presented a very attractive word picture
while his beautiful slides were shown.

On Tuesday afternoon the program postponed from February was given at a special meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Guild. Miss Anne Kimball presented a paper upon "The Evolution of Dancing." Several groups of dances were given by Miss Miriam Kimball, among them being a Hebrew ritual dance, a group of folk dances, including the Spanish fandango. A group of ballet included the skirt dance and the ballet from Faust. Modern stage dancing was illustrated by one from "The Arcadians." A barcarole from "The Tales of Hoffmann" and Russian dance were also presented. There was also a Dutch dance. All were given in costume and the program proved most interesting.

EDUCATION CONFERENCE.

By courtesy of the Friday Club of Everett the Department of Education of the State Federation held its conference in that city on Wednesday afternoon, March 15.

The meeting was called to order by Miss Bacon, who also acknowledged the hospitality of the Friday Club in response to the greeting of the president, Mrs. Florence W. Cadieu. Mrs. Lillian

H. Hellen, chairman of the department, then took charge of the conference.

"What a Woman's Club can do for the public school" was presented by Dr. Marian Little of Newburyport. First and foremost, it can create a sound, judicious public opinion. It should know present conditions from alpha to omega.
She advised working with the school committee rather than antagonizing them. It can investigate and make reports to the club and circulate the results in the newspapers. Work for important matters and not for fads which are soon to be discarded. Mothers clubs and parents' associations can be started as a means of getting into touch with the teachers.

Her own club in Newburyport in 1906
succeeded in putting the high school lunch room into better hands, it has also improved sanitary conditions in the school buildings, placed sanitary drinking fountains before the new law went into effect. A travelling library for the grammar schools is now under consideration. In conclusion she said that a broad outlook and patience will bring about any reform.

The Home and School Associations were next considered. Superintendent of Schools Whitney of Everett spoke of them from the teacher's standpoint as he had observed their operation in Everett. Such organizations exist in fourteen out of sixteen of the grammar schools in his city. He feels that it is of great advantage to the teacher because of their bringing the parents to the schools. The teachers on the other hand get a new view of the children from this contact with the parents and thereby new relations of mutual understanding are established. Mr. Whitney cited certain material benefits, for example, a piano has been presented to one school building. There has been a distinct profit, he said, from the speakers who have addressed the meetings. A better understanding of matters has been arrived at, new features of school work have been explained. He cited several specific cases where better discipline has been secured through this better understanding existing between teacher and parent.
Attendance has improved and there is less tardiness and hygienic conditions have been bettered. And there have come some positive suggestions from parents for the school work.

Mrs. Gertrude A. Spaulding, a member of the department and a resident of Everett, further enlarged upon the work of these associations speaking from the parents' point of view. She told of one district, whose population is 80 per cent
foreign, where the parents after listening to a talk upon dental hygiene purchased 50 tooth brushes for the children. She has seen the good effects from the moral talks and a desire on the part of parents to supplement the work of the teacher. She told of a day nursery which is in one building where the little children can be cared for in order not to keep the older children home from school.

"The Use of School Houses as Social Centres" was treated of by Mrs. Eva-lena Hill Holton of Dorchester. The twentieth century, she said, is developing a broader view. The public school is the investment of the whole people and experts say they should be used for the benefit of all the people. At present of the 313 working days the school houses are used for school purposes but 136 days. There should be a more economical use of the people's property. They might be made the home of neighborhood and civic clubs.

The ideal social centre will be educational and recreational. Through the public institution the rural community can lend aid to meet the needs of the people as they arise. The school buildings should be available for the convention, for vacation and for evening schools. And besides these uses they could provide a place for mothers' meetings, for reference libraries and reading rooms, in fact they may become democratic meeting places for all classes.

Quick Telephone Service

NEARLY every grocer now-a-days has a telephone. It is worth a great deal to him as well as to his customers. The value is mutual.

With a telephone he protects his trade and satisfies his customers. If he is out of what you order he calls up the wholesaler instantly and the goods are soon delivered. Ordering by mail in such a case would be too slow a process.

It is the Bell telephone local and long distance service that makes such accommodations possible.

The best investment you can make is in sufficient telephone service. Ask the Local Manager about the low cost.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Among the essentials for a successful social centre Mrs. Holton mentioned that there should be most careful and thorough study of the people, the cooperation of teachers and ministers should be secured and always a broadly democratic spirit is necessary. Don't confine them to the poor. Rochester started them among the well-to-do. There should be a spirit of broad social exchange and it should not be in any sort of social snobbishness. All the activities should be under competent direction.

On account of pressure of advertising matter, Mr. Martin's address and other club news is postponed till next week.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The principal event of the past fortnight was the turning down of Governor Foss by the Senate and House in passing, over a veto, the bill relative to certain questions to be answered by applicants for civil service positions. It is a matter of congratulation that the Newton representatives and Senator Mulligan were not swayed from the right course by the tempting opportunity to take a swat at the Governor and the Civil Service commission at the same time. The fact that the bill vetoed was fathered by Mr. Lomasney of Boston ought to have been sufficient for a Republican to oppose it. As a matter of fact only 55 men in the House and but 5 senators supported the position taken by the governor. The political effect of such action should have been considered by the republican party, as the action of the governor is certain to be approved by the state and the Republican party will suffer accordingly.

Newton matters are slowly progressing. The bill to abolish deputy election officers has been favorably reported by the committee. The bill to reimburse the city for expenses of the industrial school is still held by the committee on Education, altho it will probably be favorably acted upon. Leave to withdraw has been given on the bill to give more authority to make voting precincts as it was believed the present law is broad enough.

Representative White has succeeded in having his bill to permit the retirement of police court judges accepted by committee and he probably has sufficient influence to have it passed by the House. The petitions of Hon. S. L. Powers to increase the salaries of superior court judges has been reported upon adversely by the committee and that of Mr. R. S. Gorham for increase of salaries of the land court judges has been referred to the next general court. It is a bad year for salary increases evidently.

After two months of useless agitation the governor has been granted authority to employ experts to examine the financial estimates of the state departments. Governor Foss has appointed Mr. Harvey S. Chase of West Newton as the principal expert on this work.

Representative Bothfield, as chairman of the Liquor Law committee will be much in the lime light the next few days when the House will consider the repeal of the bar and bottle bill. The committee has reported adversely on this bill but a strong attempt will be made to overturn the committee report. It is doubtful if the attempt succeeds.

In view of the agitation for a metropolitan council, on which a hearing will be held on March 27, a bill has been introduced to create a metropolitan commission to develop and improve the metropolitan district. The commission will have power, if appointed to take charge of about everything in the district, and it is doubtful if it has serious consideration.

A bill has been reported by the Banking committee which will allow savings banks to accept deposits from school children, and will, in that respect supercede the stamp savings system which has been worked in this city by the various women's clubs. It is a step in the direction to teach thrift in the public schools and has the support of the Bank commissioner.

The county tax for Middlesex county will be $606,311.25 if the bill reported by the Committee on Counties is passed. This is a substantial reduction from the tax of 1910.

In the House the past week, Messrs. Bothfield, Ellis and White voted against asking the opinion of the Supreme court on the constitutionality of the bill to prohibit admission of white women to Chinese restaurants. They also voted in favor of rejecting the resolve for an investigation of the divorce laws. Mr. Bothfield and Mr. Ellis voted in favor and Mr. White against the bill to provide for confirmation of land titles. Mr. Ellis and Mr. White voted against the bill to require fenders by street car companies and Mr. Bothfield was not recorded.

Another instance of the legislative feeling against the civil service commission came on the bills to provide that city and state pay rolls shall be made under oath of the department head. These bills evidently escaped the unregenerate members of the Legislature until the governor's veto stirred them up, as they have been passed by one branch and had nearly run the gamut in the second body, when discovered. Favorable action was staved, the bills recommitted and this week, the honorable Senate administered the death blow to both bills. They were designed to prevent the payment of wages to persons who had not entered the service according to law and the honorable senate has accordingly placed its approval on improper methods of employment in the civil service of the state and its various cities.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN

The board of aldermen got back to normal conditions at its meeting Monday evening, by transacting business promptly and reaching adjournment at 8.30. Considerable interest was manifested by the Boston newspapers and the reporters' table was filled with newspapers which evidently expected something doing on the Real Boston matter. They were disappointed as the committee contented itself with simply issuing a statement which was slipped to all the newspapers.

No one appeared at the hearing on petition of the Telephone company for one pole on Elm street.

Alderman Chadbourne, designated by the chair, drew these men to serve as jurors at the Cambridge Superior court, John T. Judt, Park st., John L. McKeon, Lowell ave., Edgar S. Buffum, Walnut st., Nelson H. Marvin, Pine Ridge road, Edmund H. Tarbell, Lincoln st., and James McDuff, Washington st.

Mayor Hatfield asked for authority to petition the Legislature for relief from the assessment for the Charles river improvement and it was so voted.

Petitions were received from James W. Fenno for an auctioneer license, D. H. Hannigan for sewers in Cemetery ave and Homer st., R. F. Sanderson for sewers in Trapelo road and Brae Burn road, E. A. Robinson for sewer in Central terrace, the Telephone Company to remove pole on Walnut st., E. E. Kent for concrete sidewalks on Waterston road, L. E. Green and the Newtonville Improvement Association for change in the recently established precinct lines in Ward 2, G. S. Carr for license as a private detective, and Grace J. Dunham for damages caused by defective sidewalk.

On recommendation of committees, a grant of $26,810 was authorized for city expenses to April 15, transfers made in minor appropriations, water mains authorized in Waban ave and off Bishopgate road, $1200 voted for purchase of water pipe, street numbers ordered on certain streets, hearing on April 3 on relocation of sewer easement off Watertown street, attachments granted the Telephone Company on Madison ave and Valentine st., and 3 poles granted the Edison Company on Omar terrace. Leave to withdraw was given Mrs. Goodnow on her petition for a Common Victualler license.

Orders were also passed requesting the Eliot Memorial trustees to report on necessary repairs to the Memorial, and authorizing slight changes in the lease for the Lower Falls playground.

The appointments of George H. Bourne as registrar of Voters for 3 years and of Dr. C. A. Boutelle as Inspector of Animals for one year were unanimously confirmed.

CAMPBELL-LAWRENCE.

A quiet church wedding was that of Miss Florence Margaret Lawrence, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lawrence of the Croydon, and Mr. Clarence George Campbell of Newtonville avenue, Newton, which took place Wednesday morning at Grace church at eleven o'clock. The bride, who wore a violet broadcloth travelling suit, was accompanied by Miss Marion B. Campbell of Newton as maid of honor. Rev. Laurence MacLure, rector of Grace church officiated and the bridesmaids were given in marriage by Mr. E. Towle, an intimate friend of the family. Mr. Burdette P. Mansfield of Newton was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Minn S. Cornell Jr. of Middleton, Conn., Ralph F. Barber of Newtonville, and Amos R. Little of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will make their home at 140 Newtonville avenue, Newton.

DIES SUDDENLY

Mr. Winfield S. Hutchinson, for many years a resident of Newton, died suddenly, Monday afternoon while on the 3.30 train at the South Station on the way to his home at 44 Billings park. Mr. Hutchinson seemed in good health when he left his office, and death is attributed to heart disease.

He was born in Buckfield, Me., May 27, 1845, the son of Stephen Drew and Mary (Atkinson) T. Hutchinson. He attended Paris Hill and Hebron academies and Bowdoin College, from which he was graduated in 1867. He was graduated from Harvard law school in 1873.

At the age of 13 he worked on a farm during his vacations. He taught district school when 16 years old. After his graduation from college he was a teacher for 3 1/2 years in a private school for boys at Farmington, Me., and for 10 years was a teacher in the Boston evening high schools.

He had been identified with the American Bell Telephone Company since 1892, well as in the Central Union Telephone Company, and was formerly vice-president of the Western Telephone & Telegraph Company.

He was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi, the Masons, the Boston City Club, the Tuesday Club, the Humwell Club and the Newton Golf Club. He is survived by his widow, a brother, George W. Hutchinson, and a sister, Mrs. Sumner E. Newell of Paris, Me.

Funeral services will be held from his late residence this afternoon at 2.45 o'clock.

GREEN-WHITECOMB.

The wedding of Miss Pearl Whitecomb, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whitecomb of Portland, Me., took place Saturday evening at the home of the bride on Centre street, Newton, and was attended by relatives and a few intimate friends. The house was attractively decorated with Southern smilax, daffodils and yellow mimosas, and Professor Louis C. Stanton was at the piano. The bride, who wore crepe meteor, with veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, was given in marriage by her father, the ceremony being performed by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot church, assisted by Rev. U. G. B. Peirce of Washington, D. C. pastor of the groom.

The bridal party passed thru an aisle formed by the guests of Southern smilax, held by Mrs. P. B. Evans of Wakefield, Miss Bertha Stanton of Newton, Miss Louis C. Stanton of Newton, N. Y., and Miss Mabel A. Noble of Springfield, and college classmates of the bride. Miss Mary Noyes Whitecomb, sister of the bride was maid of honor wearing yellow, and Miss Dorothy Green of Washington, D. C. niece of the groom was the ring bearer. Mr. Harold L. Tilghast of New York was the best man and Messrs. Henry B. Whitecomb of Newton, Joseph A. Harwood of Littleton, Mass., Irving W. Bailey of Cambridge and Edward L. Lincoln of White Plains, N. Y., were the ushers.

A reception followed until ten o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Green being assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Whitecomb, and Mr. Bernard R. Green and Dr. Julia M. Green of Washington, D. C. father and sister of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Green will make their home at Woodford, Me.

CITY HALL.

The City treasurer states that he estimates the assessment on account of the Charles river improvement to be $20,240.82 for work from 1904 to last July and about $4425.44 since that date, making a total assessment of $24,666.26.

THE NEWTON CLUB

Saturday March twenty-fifth. Bowling.

The Bridge Whist of Wednesday afternoon was one of the most successful of the Club year. The ladies in charge were Mrs. W. H. Rogers, Mrs. G. F. Malcolm, Mrs. C. F. Daniels, Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Upham, Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Malcolm, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Fitzpatrick.

At Boston. Miss Mr. F. G. Schipper was best three strings Saturday evening with 359 total. In the Interborough matches Newton leads.

The Ladies' Tournament increases in interest. The high score, 132, of Mrs. G. F. Malcolm occasioned much comment. It was made in competition, with comparatively new pins and is one many der more favorable conditions.

There was a large attendance at the Wednesday night mixed bowling.

While her high record of 124, of 4 years standing, has just been passed by Mrs. Malcolm the best three strings were taken by Miss Righter with 88, 88 and 84 total 260. Mrs. H. A. McGill made the highest single string, 89.

The remaining months of the Club year promise to provide plenty of attractions as the departments are well occupied and the new Entertainment Committee will be heard from on lines of interest to membership at large.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

The Players give special performances on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 27, 28 and 29 at Players' Hall of George Ade's "County Chairman." The scene of this play is in the middle West about 1880 and the story is of an election for prosecuting attorney. It is unusually filled with color and action and of course with the peculiar fun of George Ade. The cast is very large and gives opportunity for almost all the members of the club and many others who are assisting. There is a crowd of townspeople and those who have seen the rehearsals say these "stars" are even better than the "stars."

The Players as a rule play only for the benefit of their members and this special performance gives an opportunity to all to see the club at its best.

The proceeds are to be used for much needed improvements to Players' Hall which will make it the most comfortable and ample hall and stage in the state. It is used for amateur theatricals and concerts. Besides the regular use by the Players, the hall is being used more and more frequently by other organizations. The D. U. society of Harvard recently appeared there and the Pi Eta will later give its annual show.

It is greatly to the credit of the city to have such a building with the opportunities it affords of good entertainment.

Y. M. C. A.

One of the new features of Y. M. C. A. work which will appeal to a great many young men are the dormitories. A young man living in the new building will not only have a room which will be nicely furnished, and all the privileges which will go with a modern Y. M. C. A. building, but in this case the opportunity to play games out of doors, such as tennis, base ball, and yet have them convenient, makes this proposition one of the most attractive for young men. Several applications for rooms have already been made and while the dormitories will not be ready until the middle of the summer, yet a list is being made up and any one desiring to have his pick of the rooms should send in his name at once.

SCHOOL GARDENS

We are planning on this first day of spring for our own gardens the coming season. Let us not forget that there are boys and girls in our Bigelow and Stearns schools who are hoping that it will be possible for them to have little garden plots of their own to cultivate this year as they did last year. It was a delight to see the eager interest of the children in their vegetables and flowers during the summer months. One little boy told me with pride that he raised enough peas for all his family for one meal. Others earned an honest penny now and then selling lettuce and radishes.

A generous citizen has given the use of the ground but we need money for the services of a director, who will teach the children and keep order and for seeds and tools.

The children need the sympathetic interest and co-operation of all their friends.

This is the Garden City. Let us help every child to realize it.

FRAMINGHAM KILLS MUNICIPAL LIGHTING SCHEME.

The vigorous and systematic campaign that has been waged in South Framingham for a year in favor of municipal ownership of the electric commercial and street lighting equipment, at present owned and operated by The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston, received a heavy setback last week. A special ballot vote was taken in the town and 635 votes were polled.

A two-thirds vote, or 423 favorable votes were required. Only 349 voted in favor and 286 voted No, so the scheme was lost by 44 votes.

Nearly a year ago the town appointed a committee, headed by R. H. Long, to investigate the subject of municipal ownership. Mr. Long has been a very vigorous worker in favor of the scheme, and the report of his committee was accepted by a show of hands in town meeting Monday night of last week.

The Australian ballot vote the next Wednesday night was necessary, however, and the previous action was set aside. There was much excitement throughout the town, and for a special large attendance and voting was not take another vote on the question for two years.

On the same day that Framingham taxpayers showed their opposition to municipal ownership, and faith in the fairness of the Edison Company's business methods, the town of Sherborn signed a ten years' contract with The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston for all the light and power service through the streets of that town. This will mean a great development for Sherborn, because it will give the people the advantage of modern light and make the Edison power plants available for any manufacturing plant that wish to locate there.

Other recent contracts made by towns around Boston with the Edison Company include a ten years' contract with the town of Milton, which is a renewal of a five years' contract now expiring, and a ten years' contract with the town of Burlington.

N. H. S.

The girls basket ball team defeated the hitherto invincible team from the Wellesley High, last Saturday at the drill shed, Newtonville, 19 to 16. This is the fifteenth game Wellesley has played and its first defeat. Three periods were played, Newton leading at the end of the first period, 13 to 0, but Wellesley "came back" nearly enough to win.

GREAT SUCCESS

The third and last of the series of entertainments given this season by the Gethsemane Commandery, Knights Templar, was held last Friday night in the Masonic Building, Newtonville, and was a great success in every way. Possibly this was due to the fact that the acquaintances formed at the previous entertainments, made this affair much more social and less formal than the others. Fully 400 of the Sir Knights in uniform, with ladies, smartly gowned, were present, and enjoyed the pop concert rendered by Atwood's orchestra for an hour in Temple hall, and were served with light refreshments meanwhile. At nine o'clock the party was invited to the lodge room above where a picked detail of Sir Knights in full uniform gave a splendid exhibition drill under the efficient direction of Adjutant Albert E. Billings. As the squad performed the various evolutions with precision and promptness, and as the letters K and T formed in marching order, the applause was hearty and enthusiastic.

Following the drill the grand march was led to the lower hall by Sir Eminent Commander W. F. Peterson and Mrs. Peterson, escorted by the picked detail. Dancing was then enjoyed until midnight.

Whist was also played in the upper rooms, in charge of Sir Knight D. Frank Lord, and souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. L. I. Wingate and Mrs. W. H. Bliss for the ladies and to Mr. C. E. Conant and Mr. C. D. Burrage for the gentlemen.

NAUTICAL TRAINING SCHOOL YEAR ENDS APRIL 1.

The winter term of the Mass. Nautical Training-school, on board the U. S. S. Ranger, will end on Saturday, April 1. During the spring vacation the decked house will be removed and the ship prepared for the annual summer cruise in the North Atlantic and the Mediterranean, visiting ports that will be of the most interest and profit to the cadets.

The course of study occupies two years, each year being divided into a summer term, the ship makes a five months' cruise, and the time is devoted entirely to practical work. During the winter term part of the time is given to vocational and elementary studies, young men desiring to become officers in the American merchant marine should make application for entrance to this school.

The curriculum includes seamanship, navigation, marine engineering, electricity, wireless telegraphy, with additional subsidiary studies.

The opportunities for young men in the American merchant marine are in the present time exceptionally good, and salaries, have been readily obtained by many graduates.

THE BIGGEST FACTORIES USE EDISON SERVICE.

The Walworth Manufacturing Company has signed a five year contract with The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston for all the light and power service in its big manufacturing plant on East First Street and extending along the water front to the Boulevard in South Boston. The contract calls for a service totaling over 1000 H. P. capacity, and replaces five steam plants aggregating a total of 1100 H. P. capacity. In the plant are twelve elevators that will be remodeled for electric operation. Besides the steam power that has been used to operate the hundreds of machines in the plant, the use of the Edison service will shut down a generating plant of 150 H. P. capacity that was used for lighting the factory buildings. The business of the Walworth Company has increased to the point where the management was confronted with the necessity for a practically complete renewal of its steam power system, the installation of an electric light and power plant of its own or the adoption of the high efficiency service of the Edison Company. After the management exhaustively investigated the subject a contract with the Edison Company resulted.

Why She Quit Her Job.

A lady of my acquaintance in Tokyo, says a writer in the World Wide Magazine, possessed a valuable servant of somewhat mature years who rejoiced in the poetic name of Oharu San—"The Honorable Miss Spring."

One day Miss Spring brought in luncheon as usual. All seemed serene; there was not a shadow of a cloud in the domestic sky. But at teatime no tea appeared; neither, in answer to calls at first patient and afterward impatient, did Oharu. After awhile the lady went herself to the back regions and found—desolation. The charcoal box was filled with gray ashes, the kettle cold. Half the luncheon plates lay immersed in a bowl of soapy water; the other half stood on the sink ready to be put away. Oharu herself slumped was not.

The next morning, however, she reappeared, very much on her company manners, with a clean kimono and her hair done in a shining bun to denote the state of a matron, denouncing the fragment of wages due to her since the beginning of the month. The lady expostulated and asked why the servant was leaving thus suddenly.

"Oh," replied Oharu, "just as I was washing the plates yesterday I remembered that Saito San, the pawnbroker, wanted a wife. Therefore I went out and married him."

Unjustly Accused.

Andrew Carnegie, when talking about the Scotch dialect once, said: "Scotch dialect is a lingo hard to understand, and it often causes awkward mistakes. Once an American divine spent Christmas in a highland inn. On Christmas morning he gave the maid a tip of a sovereign, and he said, looking earnestly at her, for she was a pretty maid:

"Do you know, Kathleen, you are a very good looking lassie?"
"Of course Kathleen was pleased, but, being modest, she blushed like a rose and answered:

"Ah, na! Ah, na! But my kissing, sir, is beautiful!"

"The divine frowned.

"Leave the room, you wicked young baggage!" he said sternly.
"He didn't know, you see, that modest Kathleen had been simply praising in her highland dialect the superior charms of her cousin Janet of Peebles."

Philosophic Tea.

The famous Adam Smith had all the proverbial absentmindedness of the philosopher. An amusing story of him is told in Mr. Fyvie's book, "Noble Dames and Notable Men of the Georgian Era." "Mr. Damer, it appears, called one morning upon the Scottish philosopher just as he was preparing his breakfast. As they talked the learned man took a piece of bread and butter in his hand and, after rolling it round and round, popped it into his teapot and poured the boiling water upon it. Damer watched with quiet amusement without drawing attention to this peculiar proceeding, and presently he had his reward, for when Adam Smith poured himself out a cup of this queer decoction and tasted it he quite innocently remarked to his visitor that it was the worst tea he had ever met with."

Not Stealing.

David Belasco delicately dissected a certain playwright one evening at a dinner given by the former to some of his friends of the theatrical profession. This playwright is successful and produces many plays, but, it is admitted, owes nearly all his best ideas to others.

"One night the playwright imagined that he heard a noise in his house," said Mr. Belasco. "He lighted a lamp, went downstairs, searched his library, parlor, dining room and kitchen, then went to the butler's pantry and there discovered a masked man kneeling over the chest of silverware.
"Ah," said he huskily. "Stealing?"
"Oh, no," replied the burglar calmly. "I'm only adapting."

Time to Make a Change.

Sir William Philips was appointed governor in chief of the province of Massachusetts Bay in 1692. During his administration the terrible war against witchcraft raged for some sixteen months. When his own wife, Lady Philips, was named as having exercised the powers of witchcraft Sir William began to view this whole terrible madness in a new light, and he put a stop to all trials and discharged the prisoners then awaiting trial.

The Way It Happened.

Brother Lobstock—How did you all get your nose busted? Brother Tump—I done slipped down an' plumb hit on my back. Brother Lobstock—But, name o' goodness, sah, you nose isn't located on your back? Brother Tump—No, sah, an' needer was Brudder Wack—Puck.

Ambiguous.

"Why did you spend so much money on your wife's funeral?" asked a man of a neighbor.
"Ah, sir," was the reply, "she would have done as much for me and more, too, with pleasure."

Sincerity.

Be resolutely and faithfully what you are; be humbly what you aspire to be. Man's noblest gift to man is his sincerity, for it embraces his integrity also.—Thoreau.

Too Busy For Repentance.

Singleton—Do you believe in the old adage about marriage in haste and repent at leisure? Wedderly—No, I don't. After a man marries he has no leisure.—Stuart Set.

If we gave assistance to each other no one would be in want of fortune.—Menander.

THEATRES

Colonial Theatre—Frank Daniels in the newest musical comedy success imported from Vienna, "The Girl in the Train," will be seen at the Colonial beginning next Monday, March 27, under the management of Charles Dillingham. The story of "The Girl in the Train" relates to an adventure on a sleeping car. A young husband, leaving his wife behind after securing a sleeping car compartment, meets an actress on the train and gives up his compartment to her. A talkative sleeping car conductor draws wrong conclusions and reports the matter, so that the wife brings suit for divorce. In the development of this entertaining story, while the lines are brilliant, and the situations could be easily twisted into unconventional lines, it is said there is not the least hint of anything offending good taste. The whole production is characterized by daintiness and refinement, as one always expects from a Dillingham musical comedy production. The cast is a strong one, with Mr. Daniels in the stellar role of the Judge. The staging and costuming are particularly effective, the first act being developed on the color scheme of Delft blue; the second act is almost entirely green, and the third act is a gorgeous array of pink and white. The music by Leo Fall is said to be the most ambitious and far above any light opera score of Viennese origin heard here in recent years.

Castle Square Theatre—The extraordinary success of "The End of the Bridge" has forced Mr. Craig to continue it for still another week at the Castle Square. This will be its fourth week, and the demand for seats shows not the slightest sign of lessening. For an unknown play by an unknown playwright, this is remarkable, and its popularity is a great tribute to its intrinsic merits. The acting, moreover, is of exceptional quality. Mr. Craig's impersonation of the doctor ranking among his best efforts, Miss Young's Joan Manner being delightful and Miss McDannell's Peter a triumph of realistic boyhood. None who wish to see "The End of the Bridge" should delay their purchase of seats, for the call for final performances is bound to be very large.

B. F. Keith's Theatre—When somebody designated "the amusement centre of Boston" at B. F. Keith's Theatre, there was no attempt to question the aptness of the expression. And judging by the crowded houses found there even through Lent, it is quite evident that Mr. Keith is able to maintain his reputation for furnishing the Boston public with big shows that must command attention. And the secret of it all is the fact that he gives the people real enjoyment, and something that will drive away dull care and start a good, wholesome laugh. Next week, for instance, he will present Valerie Bergere, who is unquestionably one of the greatest favorites ever on the American stage and a comedienne of the first water. For real laughter of a more boisterous kind, Clarence Wilbur and His Ten Funny Folks will be responsible in a comedy called "The New Scholar." Marshall Montgomery, the ventriloquist is also on the bill, and other features will be F. Wilbur Mack and Nellie Walker, in "The Girl and the Pearl," Sharkey, Geisler & Lewis, one of those lively rathskeller trios; Art Bowen, caricaturist and singer; De Renzo and La Due, sensational trapezists.

AND "SUMMER HOME" EDITED SATURDAY, APRIL 1.

Nowadays almost everyone is interested in "Summer Homes" either at the seashore, mountains or country. They will enjoy reading the specially written articles on this subject which will be published in addition to the popular regular features in the Boston Evening Transcript of Saturday, April 1.

"How the Automobile Has Helped Country Properties" is one of the points to be covered and will prove an engaging topic. "Restoring Old Houses in the Country Towns" will doubtless please many readers too. There will be several articles which will surely have a real value to investors and others concerned in the welfare of Boston and its suburbs, particularly those on "Industrial Advantage of Boston," "Inquiry for Business Sites" and "Reality in the Suburbs."

Real estate men and individuals who have properties to dispose of or to rent should take advantage of this unusual opportunity and immediately secure place to properly place their holdings before so many interested persons as will be reached by the April 1 edition of the Transcript, which will have a much larger circulation than any previous issue.

RELIGION AND BUSINESS.

"All religion is a matter of life, and its life is to do good." This saying of Swedenborg was the keynote of the lecture on "The Spiritual Life in Business" by the Rev. John Gouldard at the Church of the New Jerusalem, Newtonville, last Sunday evening.

We must recognize, said the lecturer, that there is a real distinction between religious and secular affairs. We must "render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's." But at the same time we must remember that "No man can serve two masters." In society, church and state must be distinct, but in the individual there cannot be two sets of opposing motives, one for business and one for religion. True religion or spirituality is a matter of motives, and true spiritual life is to be actuated by the spirit if not by the letter of the Sermon on the Mount. This is not a social but an individual matter, the union of the will of man with the will of God. There is no true spiritual life in the individual unless he tries to embody his religious motives in practical life.

But how far is this possible under present conditions? This question is often asked with the meaning merely of "Does religion or honest dealing pay?" But with such a consideration all true spirituality is at once abandoned. The mere desire for worldly success is not and cannot be a religious motive. How far do present conditions hamper real religion—the life of unselfish love? They do hamper it, certainly. Employees are often forced to dishonesty on pain of dismissal where the loss of employment would involve others in their own misfortune. Employers are often apparently forced to questionable practices in self-defense against unscrupulous competitors. In so far as either class really acts under compulsion, the greater responsibility rests with the person who exercises the compulsion, and with the society which permits it to be exercised.

The germs of spirituality are divinely implanted in every man. Society cannot implant them, or even make them grow, but its duty is to see that their growth is not retarded. A right public opinion and public conscience must be created. It is often said "You cannot change human nature." But you can. Christianity has done it, and the New Christianity will do it still more. Economic reform is not the duty of the church, but it is the duty of the churchman as a citizen.

The law for the individual in practical life is the law of use, or service. Every man should choose, if he can, the profession in which he honestly believes he can best serve his neighbor. Every man should have the same desire of use in his work when it is chosen. Let us keep this before us as an ideal. If we cannot always choose the best, we can at least always choose the better. And to the extent that we do this, in the unselfish desire to be of use, we shall be living in the world that life leads to heaven.

Next Sunday evening at 8, in the same church, the Rev. E. M. L. Gould will give the second lecture of the course, "New Light on Old Problems," taking up the subject of "Marriage."

The church committee extends a most cordial invitation to the public.

LASELL SEMINARY.

The annual play and reception of the Junior French class was held last evening in the gymnasium.

The director was Miss Nina Dietz and she was assisted by Miss Marion Spelger. The musical director was Miss Ruth Spindler. In the cast were Beth Brandow, Mary Martineau, Doris Powers, Grace Alexander, Christine Billington, Emily Butterworth, Elsie Fies, Miriam Flynn, Ruth Graham, Ora Hammond, Annie Merrill, Rosalie Seinsheimer, Gertrude Tingley, Winifred Whittelev and Dorothy Beacon.

After the play a reception was held at which Miss Nina Dietz, Miss Marion Ordway, Miss Marion Spelger and Miss Mary Goodwillie, received.

Preparations are being made for the 23rd annual excursion of the Lasell Seminary students to Washington. The students will leave Boston on April 7 and will visit New York and Philadelphia, taking in all the principal points of interest. At Washington preparations have been made for the students to be present at the extra session of Congress and to see the Nation's law makers at work. The party will return on April 14.

Miss Ruth Butterworth and Miss Edessa Warner have been chosen as new members of the Students Council.

Miss Alice P. Norton, head of the domestic science department of Chicago University will lecture tomorrow afternoon to the students of the domestic science department.

The regular monthly missionary meeting was held at the school last Sunday.

MRS. DANIELS BURIED.

On the afternoon of Friday, March 19 the funeral service of Mrs. Margaret W. Daniels was held at her late residence. In the absence of her own pastor, the service was conducted by Rev. Jay T. Stocking of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

As Mrs. Daniels herself, would have wished, the service was very simple.

Mr. Stocking voiced the thoughts of all present, when he spoke of her home as "The House by the Side of the Road" and as "a half-way house for souls."

With the changing of the personal pronoun, he read Katherine Lyman's beautiful poem "The Spendthrift." Mrs. Goodbar of Brookline sang "Crossing the Bar" and "Abide With Me."

It was indeed a praise service, fittingly closed by the pastor's prayer of thanksgiving for such a life.

During Mrs. Daniels' last illness she was touched and pleased by the many expressions of love and sympathy sent by neighbors and friends. It was her desire that some public recognition of these kindnesses might be made. Carrying out this wish, her daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel J. Pratt sincerely thanks all those who did so much to cheer and comfort her mother during the days of illness.

Elwell, who has recently been appointed director, in conducting the ritual and other regular exercises of the society. THE ANDREA DEL SARTO OF BOSTON.

The icy perfections of Paxton's "The Housemaid" at first appal, so does his "New Necklace"; but what a compensation is his technique! Here is a man who in private life is temperamental, human, who in his art is remotely objective. It is not fair to call such art photographic; there is too much skill of a superior kind in his work. Dare we wish him to become like Monticelli (we know of no more complete antipodes in style?) Or hadn't we better admire the wonderful skill of this Andrea del Sarto of Boston (Sarto in the faultless sense, not the color or the manner), who dreams of Vermeer and Barbell, but awakens to find himself still Paxton?—New York Sun.

Shoe Aristocracy Banished

The "Goodyear Welt" System of shoemaking machines—sixty of them—which reproduce the handicraft of the old-time shoemaker—has banished shoe aristocracy from the land—driven it out forever.

They have leveled to a common plane the footwear of an entire nation. These marvelous machines—intricate and sensitive—utilize the intelligence of skilled operators in the production of shoes that are durable and comfortable as if hand-sewed, but at only one-third the cost.

This economy permits every man, woman and child to enjoy the wonderful benefits distributed by the "Goodyear Welt" shoemaking machines. The foremost shoe manufacturers of the world employ this method in their plants.

GOODYEAR WELT

shoes for men, women, boys, girls and children are made of solid leather—they must be—for only substantial leather can be worked on these fast operating machines. Five hundred lock-stitches a minute are inserted, close, rapid and strong. Obviously cheap leather or inferior leather cannot withstand the speed of such swift flying needles. Thus "Goodyear Welt" is always a guarantee of solid, real leather. It is your insurance of wearing quality. Even the War Department recognizes this feature when it specifies the rapid Goodyear stitching as its standard in shoe contracts for the soldiers.

The feet of the Army are clad in Goodyear Welts. Shoes made by this method can withstand the severest marches. And they afford the greatest comfort. For these wonderful machines stitch the welt inner-sole and upper together in a seam that doesn't penetrate the inside of the shoe. Even the heavy outsole is lock-stitched to this welt with the seam entirely around the outer edge. The shoe is left smooth inside. Comfort is assured the soldier on his longest march.

Get this comfort for yourself. Just send us your name and address. Do it today. It brings you a list of all five hundred different names of Goodyear Welts, the shoes that are real leather and smooth inside. Some are sure to be sold right in your town. Get this list before you buy another pair of shoes. Two booklets will also be sent you free, one graphically describing the sixty machines, the other—"The Secret of The Shoe."

A SOCIAL EVENT.

The luncheon given at the Newton club yesterday afternoon by the Misses Cobb of Newton was one of the social events of the season. The club house was beautifully trimmed with Southern Smilax, potted hyacinths and azaleas, and the round tables were most attractive with mounds of American Beauty
roses, marguerites with yellow tulips,
and violets with tea rosebuds. Mrs.
Henry E. Cobb, Miss Cobb, Miss Helen Cobb and Mrs. Morton E. Cobb presided at the different tables. After the delicacies of the season had been served,
the guests, of whom there were fifty,
were treated to an unique intellectual feast. Miss Nancy Barber gave several plantation dialect stories and rhymes in an inimitable manner, peculiar to her own charming personality.

TEA AND WHIST.

On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Edwin
T. Fearing gave a most enjoyable tea and bridge whist at the Newton Club which was attended by about one hundred ladies from all the Newtons. The color scheme of yellow and violet was carried out in the score cards, prizes, flowers and confections. The ladies who assisted at the tables were Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Lodge, Mrs.
Follett and Mrs. Boyd.

MR. STANLEY FREED.

Mr. Freeman O. Stanley of Humwell avenue, who has been charged in the Malden police court with manslaughter,
in causing the death of Vivian Black,
a seven year old girl of that city, was discharged yesterday morning by Judge Bruce, who found that Mr. Stanley was not to blame for the sad occurrence.
The only witness testified, besides
Mr. Stanley, stated that Mr. Stanley was not moving over 7 miles an hour.
Mr. Stanley said he was passing a school and was watching a group of children who were coming towards him from one side of the street. He was sounding his horn, when the Black child rushed in front of the machine
from the opposite side of the street.
Mr. Stanley turned his machine sharply,
but the icy condition of the street caused the machine to skid, and the mud guard struck the child in such a fashion as to break the spleen. On the charge of running a machine without a license
Mr. Stanley was fined $20, as he was using an old form of license and he reason of long absence in Colorado, was not aware of the change in the automobile law of last year.

FOOTE-UNDERWOOD.

The wedding of Miss Gladys Underwood, the daughter of ex-alderman Mrs. Frank H. Underwood of Auburndale and Mr. W. Cleveland Foote of Newton Centre, took place last Saturday evening at the home of the bride, Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale.
The house was attractively decorated with palms and Easter lilies, the color scheme in the dining room being pink,
with sweet peas as the principal flower.
The ceremony took place at 8:30 o'clock under a shower of palms and lilies and was performed by Rev. W. C. Gordon
D. D., pastor of the Congregational church. The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with pearls and chantilly lace and carried a bouquet of valley lilies. Her sister, Miss Ethel Underwood was maid of honor and wore pink crepe meteor and carried Killarney roses. Mr. Foote was supported by his brother, Mr. Richard W. Foote of Newton Centre as best man and the ushers were Messrs. George Edwin Squier of Nashua, N. H. and Arthur Kimball Blood of Lynn.

The wedding gifts were numerous and beautiful, including a solid silver punch bowl from Mr. Foote's classmates of Dartmouth.

After the ceremony a reception was held, at which Mr. and Mrs. Foote were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs.
Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. E. Warren
Foote and Miss Underwood.
After wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs.
Foote will reside in New Bedford
where the groom is manager of the telephone company. They will be at home after June first.

At a reception and tea given by the bride on March 11 to about 75 of her intimate friends, from the Newtons, Boston, Winchester and Holyoke, there was an unusual exhibition of her bridal trousseau of many dainty and beautiful creations of her own handiwork, on which she had been at work during her engagement of four years. The exhibit occupied two rooms and was the subject of much favorable comment.

TRINITY CHURCH.

The music at Trinity church last Sunday morning received very favorable comment. A large section of the chorus choir now in process of formation was used, there being fourteen voices present, and the anthem "O Saviour of the World," by Sir John Goss was effectively rendered. It is expected that the seating accommodations will be increased by next Sunday and the number of voices will be increased accordingly. The anthem next Sunday morning will be "What are these that are arrayed in white robes," by Sir John Stainer, and the Benedicite will be a shortened form with free organ accompaniment written by Carl H. Reed.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

Now is the time when next year's programs are being considered. Too much thought cannot be spent on them.
To improve on the past year's should always be the aim. "All work and no play" is, perhaps, as much of a mistake as "all play and no work." Those who are arranging the year's work should take into consideration all the elements that go to make up the club,
some want to be amused and some want to be instructed. While all cannot be satisfied equally, yet a fair proportion of serious work should occasionally be introduced with something more entertaining in order to secure a well balanced program.

The Newton Federation is embarking upon another large enterprise by which to increase its treasury. Plans are already well underway for holding an historical pageant of Newton sometime in early June, though the date has not yet been finally determined. The local directors of the affair are Mrs. J. H.
Pillsbury and Mrs. B. E. Taylor, while all the immediate preparations are in the hands of Miss Eager, who is already known to Newton people from her connection with "The Pied Piper" and has had a wide experience in arranging for similar pageants in other places. The work of carrying it on has been assigned to the various clubs much as it was at the time of the bazaar and the enthusiasm already manifested assures its success.

PUBLIC HEALTH CONFERENCE.

By courtesy of the Revere Woman's Club a conference will be held by the Public Health Department of the State Federation in the Town Hall, Revere on Thursday, March 30, at 2 P. M. Mr.
Seymour H. Stone will speak on "School Tuberculosis Exhibits." Dr.
William C. Hansen on "The Common Drinking Cup." Dr. Evangeline W.
Young on "Social Hygiene." There will be opportunity for discussion and questions, and a social hour with the hostess club. Take electric at Scollay Square
Sunday, running time 35 minutes.
Leave car at Pleasant street, Revere.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.
will meet with Mrs. Emory Clark of Allerton road, on Monday afternoon at 2.30.

On Tuesday morning the Current Events class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild will meet at the New Church parlors.

Tuesday afternoon, March 28, will be Children's Day at the Waban Woman's Club.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on March 29 Miss Mabel Frost of the Women's Municipal League will speak upon the activities of the League.
Guests may be invited.

On March 30 at 2.30 P. M. will be held the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. "Joelyn Leigh" will be read by Miss Katherine Jewell Everts, followed by a social and tea.

At the meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation on Monday morning it was decided to hold the annual meeting of the Federation at Newtonville on May 2, at 10 A. M. The morning session will be devoted to the business of the Federation, reports, election of officers, etc., to be followed by luncheon as usual. In the afternoon certain matters relating to the welfare of Newton will be presented, of which further notice will be given in these columns later.

Mrs. Ella Mason, police matron, was present and spoke of the need of a detention home in Newton that the city should not have to turn over women and children, who come before the court, to the care of Boston societies. At a later date the Federation will be ready to make recommendations in regard to this matter.

The chief interest of the morning was the presentation of the plans for the Historic Pageant of Newton which the Federation has voted to present in June. Mrs. G. H. Wilkins, chairman of the temporary committee, reported that Mrs. J. H. Pillsbury and Mrs. B. E. Taylor will jointly bear the responsibility under the direction of Miss Margaret Eager, who assumes the charge of the scenes and their presentation. The detail work has been assigned as follows:
Program, Newtonville Woman's Guild; Advertising, Parliamentary Law and Debating Club, and Ladies' Home Circle; Grounds, Social Science and Waban Clubs; Scenes, Newton Centre Club;
Costumes, Auburndale Review and West
Newton Educational Clubs; Music, Brynnyria Mothers' and Pierian Clubs.
The Newton Highlands Monday and the Shakespear Clubs were held in reserve for further plans, which may arise.
It is expected that each club will stand for a scene.

Miss Eager suggested possible scenes, such as the settlers before they left England, the Purchase of the Land,
the Coming of the First Settler, the Agreement with Waban, the coming of John Eliot, and others, but as nothing is yet determined, it is not necessary to mention them in detail.

The whole plan has met with hearty support and it is hoped that the enthusiasm already shown will carry it to a successful issue.

The Newton Highlands Monday Club
met with Mrs. S. L. Eaton on March 20. Two sections of "Les Miserables," "Marius" and "Jean Valjean" were considered. A report was given of the plans of the Newton Federation for the coming historical pageant. Next week the club will meet with Mrs. W. S. Jackson of Hartford street.

The Newton Ladies Home Circle
will give an attractive spring luncheon and entertainment in Temple Hall, Newtonville on Friday, March 31, for the benefit of their Relief Fund. Tickets may be obtained from members before March 29.

At the home of Mrs. Sanford Thompson the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C.
continued its study of "The Scientific Achievements of America" under the leadership of Mrs. Hanson Rogers, the subject of Electricity being treated under the divisions of light, telegraph, telephone and the motor.

On Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. Fuller the Auburndale Review Club considered Ibsen's "An Enemy of the People." The members who had part in the reading were Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Almy, Mrs. Ryder,
Miss Bridgman and Miss Hunt. Mrs.
May Sleeper Ruggles rendered two selections by Mrs. Bench, "Spring Song", and "The Year's at the Spring", and
"The Woodpecker" by Kevin. Mrs. Nelson Freeman played "The Bridal Procession" by Grieg.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild enjoyed an "Afternoon with Schumann" under the direction of Mrs. D. E. Baker on Tuesday, March 21. As an introduction to the musical program Mrs. Baker gave a sketch of the life and work of Schumann. The artists were, Mrs. Norman Marshall, contralto, Miss Lillian West, piano, Miss Lillian Haynes, cello, Miss Blanche Sears, violin, Mr.
Rudolph Larsen, violin. Mrs. A. P. Carter accompanied Mrs. Marshall.

Dr. Walter B. Cannon of Harvard Medical School presented an admirable address on Wednesday morning before the Social Science Club. He said in part, that in all the sciences the most effective way of obtaining knowledge was by experimentation. About the middle of the last century experiments began to be used in the study of medicine.
Dr. Cannon told of Pasteur's discoveries relative to germs and his deductions led to the broad generalization
that all infectious diseases are produced by bacteria being introduced into our bodies. He touched upon Koch's work in isolating germs of tuberculosis and quoted an eminent authority who says,
"Were it not for experiments upon animals, much ignorance concerning the great white plague would still prevail."
The death rate in this one disease since 1881 has diminished from 42 in 10,000
to 18 in 10,000.

Most of the knowledge concerning anesthetics, he said, comes from animal experimentation, and the skill of the surgeon's fingers is obtained by practice upon animals.

Dr. Cannon answered satisfactorily
the charges of the "anti-vivisectionists" saying that in every laboratory in the country are placed rules governing the operation upon animals. These rules are very human and are enforced by boards, trustees and those in authority. Every care is taken of the animals used for experimental purposes, as to warmth, ventilation, food, and water, and no needless pain is inflicted. And who should say that medical research shall not profit by this needful experimentation?

The speaker's sympathetic personality won much favorable comment and his address was listened to with much interest by those present.

The Pierian Club of Upper Falls held its regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E.
Garrison. After the regular business,
the ladies listened to a fine piano duet
by Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Seaver. Mrs.
S. L. Eaton of Newton Highlands read
a very instructive and entertaining paper upon "The Life of George Eliot." Mrs. Thompson read "The Choir Invisible." The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Arthur Thompson on April 5.

CONFERENCE OF PRESIDENTS.

By invitation of the Philergians of Bainbridge the spring conference of presidents was held in that town on Tuesday afternoon, March 21. Mrs. Mabel S.
Rogers, president of the hostess club,
in her greeting of the visiting club women mentioned the meaning of their club name, Philergians, namely, as "lovers of Work" and then spoke of the early history of their town founded in 1640, from which later Quincy, Randolph and Holbrook were set off. She referred to the church in which the meeting was held, as having had but eight pastors in the 200 years of its existence. In closing she presented the welcome not only of the club, but of the old town and the old church as well. Miss Bacon in her response referred to Massachusetts' wealth of history, which is impossible in many of the other State Federations. In her introduction of the subject for discussion she said that it was the purpose of the conference to impress upon them
the responsibility of the club president.
She must be in touch with the movements of the day, must bring to her task enthusiasm and she must consider the club as an educational institution. This presidents' Conference is a clearing house of ideas. "Which line of work or Federation work is of greatest value to your club and community?"
was the subject chosen for discussion and it brought out better than ever before just what is being done in the various communities by these energetic clubs. Never before have the members entered with more spirit into the discussion and instead of long pauses waiting for someone to speak, there were many more ready to give the benefit of experience, than there was time in which to be heard. To mention specific clubs and what they have accomplished is impossible and would hardly be fair to those who had no opportunity to report, but it is safe to say that civic problems seem to have so far received the widest consideration and to have been the first to capture the club woman's interest. Many clubs are carrying on the stamp savings work, several reported carrying on vacation schools, home and school gardens, having improved conditions of the school lunch counters, or carried them on themselves, district nurse work, and the providing of clothing for the poor in places where there are no Associated Charities organizations.

The clubs' relations with Boards of Health were interesting. One or two stated that they had been approached by these boards and asked to cooperate in bettering sanitary conditions, others stated that when they had approached the boards, they had been courteously

Many delegates spoke warmly of the great unifying power of the Federation and the increased interest in the Federation meetings and the great value of the conference idea that has been emphasized during the past three years.
Members from clubs rather more remote from the places of meeting of the Federation and of the conferences spoke of the difficulty of getting members to attend on account of time and expense. Some few clubs pay the expenses of a delegate, but only a small proportion.

The resolution, regarding making the mountain laurel the national flower, emblem, sent out by the General Federation, was read and the presidents were urged to discuss the matter with their clubs.

A rising vote showed those present as in favor of continuing the presidents' conferences another year.

At the close the hostess club entertained the delegates socially, always a pleasant feature of these conferences.

Spring House Cleaning

Nearly always means at least a few old things to be replaced by new.

We suggest that before buying new furniture, you let us tell you how you can renovate your old. Many a piece that you think hopelessly beyond repair, needs only the attention of our skilled man who "knows how."
The result will be a success or we won't undertake it.

Incidentally, if you ARE going to buy new pieces, see us first.

Playing at Death.

The mother of Ivan Turgenev, the Russian novelist, was a trying person to live with, irritable, capricious and unreasonable. On Ivan's birthday in 1845, we are told in "Two Russian Reformers," after a day of festivities, Mme. Turgenev pretended to be dying. "She sent for her confessor and, placing before her the portrait of her son Ivan, exclaimed 'Adieu, Ivan! Adieu, Nicolas! Adieu, my children!' Then she ordered her forty servants and all the men employed about the house to say goodby to her. When they had filed out of the room Mme. Turgenev declared that she felt better and asked for tea. The next day the following order appeared:

"I give orders that tomorrow morning the discolored servants, Nicolas Jacobiev, Ivan Petrov and Egor Kondratiev, shall sweep the court in front of my windows."

"Those names were those of servants who had not appeared at her bedside, possibly because they were a little drunk that evening. 'Good for nothing! Drunkards!' exclaimed Mme. Turgenev. 'They rejoice at the death of their mistress!'"

The Bank Beat the Prince.

The Gentleman of London recalls the following story of the prince regent and Countess's bank: "When George IV. was a regent he had a grudge against Countess and determined to play a trick on the authorities. In those days even the great banks kept very small reserves of cash, and the playful prince thought out a plan to close Countess's. So he sent his equerry round from Carlton House with a check for £100,000, fondly hoping that the bank would not be able to pay over the counter. The prince's trick, however, failed of success, as the wary old partner of the Strand bank proved equal to the occasion. He said at once to the equerry, 'How will his royal highness take the amount, in gold or notes?' The equerry hesitated and then said he had better go back to Carlton House to inquire. So he departed, and Countess had time to send to the Bank of England and get the cash required, but it was not needed, as the prince regent, seeing that Countess had got the best of him, did not return the check in question."

Eggs That Can't Be Found.

The eggs of some common birds of the present day have never been found. There is the robin snipe; its eggs have never been seen. An English zoologist kept a man going up and down the coast of Labrador for weeks purposely to get a robin snipe's egg, but it was in vain. The bird is known by thousands of people, but it breeds so far north and so remote from any civilization that no scientific observer can ever get to its nest ere the young are hatched and have taken to wing. The frigate bird that is so commonly seen at sea on the Pacific and off the West Indies is such a solitary bird and is so seldom seen in its nest during the hours of daylight that its egg is rare. It seems strange, but the eggs of so well known a bird as the sandpiper have never been found and are almost priceless.—London Globe.

Reversed the Proposition

Robert W. Kille Woolley, the writer, found it necessary not long ago to take a trip west. On the dining car of the train he saw that he had in his pocket 10 cents in change, his smallest bank note being one for $50. He handed this to the porter, who went to the end of the car for a conference with the conductor.

"I'm very sorry about this," said the conductor, standing in front of Woolley and toying with the big bill, "but we haven't the change for $50. We'll just take your address and send you the change."

Woolley calmly reached over and took possession of the banknote. "You've got nothing on me," he said. "I'll take the address of the railroad and send the price of the meal."—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Baths of Caracalla.

The Romans appear to have been well off in the matter of bathing places in the first and second centuries. In the baths of Caracalla 1,600 bathers could be accommodated at one time. The inclosed area was 300 square yards, but it included a course for foot racing. The bathing establishment was 240 yards in length by 124 wide. The remains of the walls are eight and ten feet thick and in some places as much as fifty feet high.

A Cumulative Test.

As the thin man and the stout one were talking of diet and food in general the thin man said: "You can get an excellent dinner at Clapham's, the restaurant near my office, for 25 cents. Ever try one of his dinners?"

"One of 'em! Yes, I should say I had," said the stout man. "Why, I ate four of 'em one day last week!"

The Best Thing.

"What do you mean by kissing me, Herr Frisch?"

"My aunt told me to. She told me to come and help myself to the best thing I could find in the kitchen."—Pittsburg Post.

Just Men.

If any one says that he has seen a just man in want of bread I answer that it was in some place where there was no other just man.—St. Clement.

Can Afford It.

"Has the doctor a large practice?"

"So large that when people have nothing the matter with them he tells them so."—Pittsburg Post.

The Proof.

"You're very contradictory, my son."

"No, I'm not, pa."—Lippincott's.

JUNIORS WIN MEET

The annual gymnastic meet of the girls of the Newton High School in the gymnasium last Saturday afternoon attracted a good audience of their friends and relations and was a most successful affair.

About 350 girls took part and it was a pretty sight to see them march into the gym dressed in white blouses and blue bloomers, each class being distinguished by a different colored tie. That worn by the seniors being red, the juniors, yellow, the sophomores blue, and the freshmen green. While the different events were taking place, the girls not engaged in it were seated cross-legged on the floor.

The meet was in charge of Miss Shepardson, the physical director assisted by Miss Westgate, and the judges were Miss Barnes and Miss McCarthy of Brookline, Miss Tobey of Arlington, and Miss Tower of Auburndale.

The meet was won by the class of 1912 for the second time, the seniors and sophomores being tied for the second place, and the various events were won as follows:

Floor work, juniors first, sophomores second.
Bom-Hand travelling, Miss Brown '11 first, Miss Leavens '12, second.
Rope climbing, Miss Bacon '13, first, Miss O'Neil '12, second.
Fall hanging, Miss Gustin '14, first, Miss Keith '11, second.
Oblique vault, Miss Mitchell, '12 first, Miss Hunt, '12 second.
Saddle vault, Miss Bruner, '13 first, Miss Weston, '13, second.
Parallel bar vault, Miss Wardle, '11 first, Miss Leavens '12 second.
Relay race won by seniors.
Arch ball won by freshmen.
Basket ball won by seniors.
First and last won by juniors.
The dancing was another pretty and graceful feature about twenty girls from each class taking part, the Butterfly and "How do you do" dances being given by the freshmen, the Folk dances by the sophomores and the Bohemian polka by the juniors and seniors.

A NATIVE OF NEWTON.

Mrs. Martha Adelaide Jackson, widow of William Ward Jackson, died at her late residence in Newtonville, March 23, after an illness of several weeks following a shock of paralysis.

Mrs. Jackson was a native of this city, having been born at Newton Lower Falls, June 27, 1837. Her father, Moses Garfield, and her grandfather, Thomas Rice were among the pioneer paper manufacturers of New England and they both owned mills at the Lower Falls.

Mrs. Jackson was married to William Ward Jackson, son of the Hon. William Jackson of Newton, in 1861.

Mrs. Jackson endeavored herself to a large circle of friends, having a bright, lovable nature, and taking an active interest in all good works.

The funeral services were held at her late residence, 275 Mill street, on Sunday, March 26, and were conducted by the Rev. Richard T. Loring of St. John's church, Newtonville, assisted by the Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity church, Newton Centre.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers. The Mendelssohn quartet rendered the hymns "Abide With Me," "Lead Kindly Light" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul."

The interment was in the old church yard connected with St. Mary's church, Newton Lower Falls.

Mrs. Jackson leaves two sons and two daughters to mourn her loss.

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN

The Players more than sustained their deservedly high reputation as the best amateur organization in this vicinity, in the three performances given this week in their hall in West Newton of George Ade's truly rural American comedy, "The County Chairman." Enthusiastic audiences filled the hall on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and thoroughly enjoyed the play, which is one of the best ever written by Mr. Ade. The entire cast took their parts in a highly creditable manner, but Miss Ethel Howland, Miss Ruth Stutson, Miss Dorothea Macomber, for the ladies and Mr. Pulsifer, Mr. Glidden and Mr. Locke for the gentlemen seemed to strike the popular approval to a more marked degree. Mr. Pulsifer gave a most finished representation of the County Chairman and some of the political phrases which came from his lips were most apropos of his own political experiences in this city. He gave his lines with the soft, drawing accent of the middle south, and even in the excitement of the last scene called out the vote as "fo'teen hundred" in a most typical manner. Miss Howland made a capital shrew and Mr. Locke as her alleged better half orated in splendid style. Mr. Glidden is always good and his "Sassafras" was no exception to the rule. Mr. Stutson and his daughter had some clever scenes together and Mr. Chase was a capital country boy. Mrs. Freeman had the most difficult role of all the ladies and handled it well while Mrs. Pulsifer wore a costume of a generation ago and carried herself with dignity as well.

The cast entered into the performance with great zeal and the fight in the grove at the end of the second scene was most realistic, some of the ladies being almost knocked down as the crowd surged to and fro on the stage.

The Philharmonic orchestra, under the direction of Mr. A. H. Handley rendered some delightful music during the evening.

Mr. Arthur G. Hosmer was stage manager and Hon. Charles E. Hatfield and Mr. Whitmore and Mr. William T. Farley were the ushers. The cast included Mrs. F. W. Freeman, Mrs. G. R. Pulsifer, Miss Ethel Howland, Miss Ruth Stutson, Miss Dorothea Macomber, Miss Josephine Talbot, and Messrs G. R. Pulsifer, Mr. H. C. Johnson, C. L. Willey, G. M. Angier, E. P. Noyes, Stuart Chase, Waldo Glidden, R. G. Whiting, E. I. Locke, E. T. Gammons, T. E. Stutson, T. A. Whidden, Osgood Perkins, C. E. Nicholson, R. S. Bowen, J. A. Condit and S. M. Crain.

The receipts will be used for enlarging the entrance to the Players Hall.

LECTURE ON MARRIAGE.

There was a large and interested audience at the lecture on "Marriage" given last Sunday evening at the Church of the New Jerusalem, Newtonville, by the Rev. E. M. L. Gould, assistant minister of the church. The lecture as a whole was a strong plea for a deeper recognition of the sanctity and inviolability of the marriage relation, in the face of modern tendencies toward easy divorce and lightly-regarded infidelity.

The speaker began by referring to the "sanctity of the community" as the outward basis of marriage. There is reason to believe, on scientific grounds, that this sanction has always existed among men, and that monogamous marriage is the normal condition of humanity. But the community's sanction is at present weakened, and the value of marriage needs to be considered and accepted anew. Sociologists still usually support marriage on the grounds of its usefulness to society and of its fulfillment of the need of each sex for the companionship of the other. But these are not enough. The Divine origin and sanction of true marriage needs to be more generally recognized.

That there is such a sanction may be seen from such a saving of our Lord's as "Whom God hath joined together." The marriage tie is implied in the nature of God, because the union of male and female is a picture of the union of Divine Knowledge and Divine Purpose through which He governs the universe. For in a true marriage, (the bond of which is a union of minds and souls) the male mind, essentially intellectual, is combined with the female mind, essentially affectional, and through this specialized co-operation each partner is most useful to society. This increased usefulness is another basis of the sanctity of marriage, since the law of service is the first law of religion. Marriage is sacred most of all because in it is given the most perfect opportunity for unselfishness, which is the very essence of God Himself. But it follows from all these facts that true marriage cannot exist with the contentious, the selfish or the idle.

Finally, there is true marriage in the hereafter. The bond which our Lord says is dissolved is the merely material one, which cannot of course have force in a spiritual world. But the marriage whose bond is in the heart will last forever, and will bring ever-increasing love and happiness. Even the unhappily married in this world may look to a perfect marriage in the hereafter if they develop the potentiality of it here by absolute faithfulness to the earthly contract. But most unhappy marriages would be avoided if people took the relation more seriously and regarded its obligations as sacred above all others.

And much of the unhappiness after marriage could be avoided if there were less selfishness and exaction and more sympathy and consideration. "Let us remember that true marriage is God's

MEMORIAL SERVICE

In 1904 a memorial tribute was paid by Charles Ward Post No. 62 of Newton in a service devoted to honoring its then brave dead, a service long to be remembered. Since 1904 36 more of its members have passed to "That home from which no traveller returns." The Post is planning to hold a similar service in memorial of the 36 brave defenders who have since passed out of the Army Militant to the Army Triumphant whither all the boys are hastening. The Pension Department reports each month about 5000 comrades who are thus dropped from its Pension Rolls and which number must increase very rapidly as the months pass by. Sunday, April 9 at 2 P. M. in Temple Hall, Newtonville, this reverent service will be held where the remaining comrades will conduct their impressive Grand Army ritual observance of such important occasions, assisted by Rev. H. Grant Person of Eliot Congregational Church Newton, as orator, with the Lotus Male Glee Club to render its tender and heroic musical tributes. 36 vacant chairs appropriately draped will surmount the platform. It is hoped that the city government will honor the occasion with its presence, and that our citizenship, male and female, will turn out en masse to honor the Boys of 61-65 living and dead who 50 years ago sprang to save the Nation from destruction. "Requiescat in Pace."

best gift to man—the intended source of his deepest and most lasting happiness. And true marriage love is, except only the love of God, the highest and holiest emotion that the human heart can feel."

The lecture was the second of a course entitled "New Light on Old Problems." The Rev. William L. Worcester, president of the New Church Theological School, had been engaged to deliver the next lecture, on "Childhood," but on account of his serious illness his place will be taken by the Rev. E. M. L. Gould. The lecture will be given in the church, Highland Avenue, Newtonville, next Sunday evening.

CRYSTAL LAKE

The Newton Centre Improvement Association with its usual commendable enterprise has had a comprehensive historical sketch compiled and published about Crystal Lake. To those who are cognizant of the many legal complications which have ensued relative to defining the public and private rights in this body of water, this little book speaks for itself, and even to those who are not interested in the ownership of the lake, the text is of value.

The book contains chapters on Indian traditions, the Colonial period, The Middle Ages, The Modern Era, Judicial Notice, the Geological, Piscatorial and Miscellaneous details and a Vision of the Future. The author, Mr. Henry Baily of Newton Centre has written the book in a vein of dry humor which is constantly cropping out. The book sells for fifty cents and can be found at the local drug stores.

POLICE NOTES.

In the police court Monday morning Alexander C. Varnall, a student at Harvard university, was before Judge Kennedy on a charge of going at an excessive rate of speed in his auto and not slowing down and giving timely signal at an intersecting way. It was charged that on last Wednesday evening he was coming down Commonwealth avenue at the rate of 40 miles an hour and did not blow his horn when crossing Walnut street. Officer Coniff stopped him and took his name and number. Judge Kennedy ordered him to pay a fine of $10 on each count, which he did.

The police were summoned early Sunday morning to the clubhouse of the Nonantum social, political and benevolent club in the Nonantum district. The police under the direction of Sergt. Burke arrested six Italians, Tony Esposito, 63 Hawthorne st; Frank Barone 23 Watertown st; Joe Notaromasso, 62 Hawthorne st; Joseph Antonelli, 24 West st; Nicholas Deloffo, 19 Quirk ct, and Joseph Dangelio, 13 Murphy ct, the former two charged with drunkenness and disturbance and the other ones for disturbance. They were arraigned before Judge Kennedy in court Monday morning, who ordered the men to pay a fine of $5 for disturbance and $3 for drunkenness. They appealed and were bound over to the April session of the superior court.

Arthur, Morreau, 35, of Faxon st, Nonantum, was arrested Monday by officer Hughes, charged with the illegal sale of liquor. It is claimed by the owners of the factory where Morreau worked that many of their employees were receiving liquor while at work and the matter was referred to the police. Chief Mitchell secured a man to work at the factory. Monday he asked Morreau to get him a half a pint of whiskey and Morreau went home to get it and delivered it to him. In court Tuesday morning Morreau was fined $60 which he paid.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

An echo of the fight over the repeal of the bar and bottle bill of last week came on Monday when the reclassification of liquor licenses was considered. This was an attempt to beat the devil of the bar and bottle bill around the stump and it was defeated by practically the same vote as was cast in favor of retaining the bar and bottle bill. Representative Bothfield has had a strenuous time the past few weeks as House chairman of the Liquor Law committee, as he was in charge of the leave to withdraw report of that committee which was sustained by the House. Mr. Bothfield has been the confidant of several legislators and their stories of the influences which were brought to bear on them to repeal the bill are most interesting. Representative Kilpatrick of Lowell told the House that his vote for the bar and bottle bill last year had caused his business to drop off $200 but he intended to stick to his position. It is a sad commentary on the venality of the times, but the staunchness of the representatives who adhered to their convictions regardless of attempts to change their vote, is a matter of congratulation. The effort to change the vote of last Thursday, when the classification bills came up Monday was quite marked, but only 5 representatives crossed over.

Governor Foss sent in a most sensible veto this week on the appropriation of $350 to the celebrating of the Civil War. The governor said: "In my judgment no helpful service to the people of this Commonwealth or of the nation can be rendered by this commemoration of bloodshed in battle between the then opposing sections of this country."

If any anniversaries in connection with the Civil War are to be established in the future at the expense of the State, they should in my judgment, commemorate the return of peace. The Senate took the Governor's words to heart and even the sponsor for the original bill voted to sustain the veto.

Of course the real event this week at Beacon hill was the hearing on the proposed metropolitan advisory council bill and the Boston papers have given that so fully that it is needless for me to repeat what they have said. It can be truthfully said, however, that the pointed questions asked by the committee of the petitioners were not met as fully as possible and that the questions asked were mostly hostile to the measure. It is said about the State House that a large majority of the committee will be adverse to the bill and that there will be an effort to overturn their report.

Mr. E. K. Hall of Newtonville, as counsel for the Telephone company has also been a busy man the past two weeks in opposing the many propositions before the Legislature which would compel that public service corporation to furnish free telephone service and apparently supply the breath needed for talking purposes anywhere between Boston and Chicago.

Some of the propositions put before the General Court in the name of the "people" are about as ridiculous as possible and the telephone business offers an unlimited field for the crank petitioner.

Mr. Ellis is a dissenter of course, from the report of his committee on labor on the familiar "eight hour" bill which Governor Draper voted twice. It is the same old bill and will be passed the same old way and may and may not pass the Governor's scrutiny, for what Mr. Foss may do is always uncertain. As I have frequently pointed out it is not an "eight hour" bill, as that is already on the statute books. This bill is one which will not even "permit" a public employee to work more than 8 hours under any circumstance, and ought to be opposed by every right minded laborer on general principles.

THEATRES

Boston Theatre—There has been no dramatic attraction in many years to equal the widespread success of that distinguished actor, Robert Hilliard, who comes to the Boston Theatre for two weeks commencing April 3, in "A Fool There Was." Hundreds of theatre goers will now find opportunity to see his brilliant characterization—one of the most vivid and artistic known in the annals of the American stage—in a play that has been discussed from coast to coast and has achieved a remarkable record for gripping an ever elusive popular fancy. "A Fool There Was" makes vital the story of a distinguished American diplomat dragged down to disaster through the spell of a hypnotic woman. Its basic theme is found in Kipling's ruggedly powerful and grimly satirical poem of the vampire woman, and was written by Porter Emerson Browne, a former resident of Newton.

R. F. Keith's Theatre—A big holiday program has been arranged for the Easter holidays at R. F. Keith's theatre, and if all the boys and girls of Boston who are out of school do not fill the big playhouse it will be a wonder. But the bill is not made up entirely for the young folks. The features that will appeal to them will strike the older ones as well. Who has not laughed over the antics of the famous "Buster" Keaton, of the remarkable acrobatic trio, the 3 Keatons? Who will not enjoy the lively sports of Al Rayno's Bull Dogs, who play football. For a big feature that will attract well attention there will be Hugh Herbert, in the great Lamb's Club success, "A Son of Solomon," one of the funniest and most original comedies ever written. There will be Augustus Glase, who originated the play "The Village Fiddler and The Country Maid," which is described as a riot of fun from start to finish; Conroy and LeMaire in a new comedy entitled

"The Pinchle Friends." Elida Morris, a dainty singing comedienne, and others yet to be announced.

Castle Square Theatre—"The End of the Bridge" is an extraordinary triumph at the Castle Square. Even four weeks have not been enough, and Mr. Craig is therefore compelled to announce a fifth week beginning next Monday. Whether it will be the last, remains to be seen. If the public ask it, Mr. Craig will be compelled to give it week after week until the demand ceases. As for the performance of Miss Lincoln's prize play, it is exceptionally effective. Mr. Craig, Miss Young, Mr. Hassell, Mr. Walker and Miss McDannel all having equal opportunity. With the character of Peter, the little boy, among the dramatic personae, "The End of the Bridge" will offer exceptional attraction for the children during the coming school vacation week.

With a product that is steadily increasing in popular favor and is meeting with a constantly growing demand, the Daggett & Curry Company, which moved from Boston to the concrete building recently erected in Waltham, gives excellent promise of becoming one of the important industrial concerns of that city. Though started only a year ago last January, in Boston, the company will soon be employing a force of thirty hands, which will be gradually increased as the conditions of the business warrant.

The company is engaged in the manufacture of leaded or stained glass shades for lighting fixtures, made to retail at prices ranging from $10 to $150. They are used in the homes of the fairly well-to-do and wealthy people, and among these classes are meeting with much favor.

The members of the company are H. M. Daggett and F. A. Curry, both of whom reside in Auburndale. Both were formerly employed by the Welshach Company of Boston.

HIGH SCHOOL MASTER ABOLISH THE "ISMS"

Mr. Albert Perry Walker, headmaster of the Girls' High School at Boston, died at his home on Birch Hill Road, Newtonville, early Tuesday morning. He was forty-eight years of age, and had been a teacher in the Boston schools for twenty-three years, having been headmaster of the Girls' High School for four years.

Mr. Walker was born in Alton Bay, N. H., and was the son of Charles D. and Hannah Perkins Perry. Following the death of his parents he was adopted by Albert D. Walker and assumed the name of his foster parents. He was educated at Wesleyan University, and was a tutor in Latin and Greek and was a teacher at the Mitchell Boys' School at Billerica from 1884 to 1886. He was principal of the Grafton High School in Boston, teaching English and history from 1887 to 1888, and was senior master in the succeeding six years. He taught history in the Boston Normal School from 1904 to 1907, and had been headmaster of the Girls' High school since Sept. 1, 1907.

Mr. Walker was an accomplished organizer and had served in that capacity in churches at Middletown, Conn., Grafton and Newton. He was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, Psi Upsilon, the New England History Teachers' Association, of which he had been both secretary and president; the Massachusetts Education Association and the American Historical Association. Mr. Walker was the editor of "Selections from 'Paradise Lost,'" issued in 1898; Macaulay's "Essay on Milton," in 1899, and a year later he published a similar treatise on Addison. He also was the author of "Essentials of English History."

The news of Mr. Walker's sudden death caused profound grief at the Girls' High School. The school flag was placed at half mast, and flowers were placed on his desk and also sent to his home.

Funeral services of the simplest character were held Thursday afternoon from the Swedenborgian church and were conducted by Rev. John Goddard, pastor of the church and Rev. Jay T. Stocking of Central church. There were many relatives, friends, business associates and representatives of organizations, to which deceased belonged, present including 55 instructors and 150 pupils of the Girls' High School and many masters of Boston schools. The remains were taken to Middletown, Conn., for burial.

The honorary pallbearers were Messrs. George Royal, Edward P. Hatch, Albert P. Carter, Enoch C. Adams, headmaster of the Newton High School; Wallace C. Boyden and Dr. William O. Hunt, all of Newtonville.

The following extracts from the recently issued report of the Superintendent of Schools of Spencer, are worthy of the serious attention of both parents and school authorities of this city.

The schools of Spencer have been singularly blessed by the confidence of her citizens. Helpful criticisms and suggestions have been welcomed but the voice of the school tinker has seldom been heard in our land.

For this we express appreciation and gratitude. It is not so always and everywhere. Within our horizon there are times and places, where it seems as though everybody felt at liberty to grind his axe or inflict himself upon the schools.

In a shadowy far-off way people recognize that the education of a child is one of the most serious duties committed to man. That all the training, experience and expert knowledge that can be brought to bear is none too much. Yet where experts fear to tread not a few straightway rush in to poke and monkey with education as though it were a plaything.

The result of it all is that sometimes no small part of the energy of the guardians of the schools has to be spent in defending them not only from the mercenary, but from the crude thinking of fidgeting well meaning people. The money changers would invade the temple of learning with tickets for lectures, fairs, whist parties, dances, lotteries, voting contests, gifts, collections and charities of various sorts.

I have had to drive out soap sellers with benevolent schemes of something for nothing; collectors "to save the ship Constitution," and to turn a cold shoulder to scout organizers who, it is said, failed to account for $50,000 collected from voters, San Francisco elects scoundrels to vote her treasury and sends to Spencer for "a penny school collection." Even local organizations sometimes forget that our young people have a previous engagement of supreme importance.

Last April a thoughtful criticism of the high school was made by one of our most esteemed citizens. On that same afternoon twenty-one of the eighty-two pupils absented themselves from the school to rehearse for a local organization a play at the theatre. If the theatre is to have the right of way over the school the money so raised is at a fearful cost.

All sorts of well meant "isms" are continually trying to pass the Cerberus at the school portal. Now it is some scheme for flag day, war day, peace day, bird day, corn day, apple day, humane day, Mexico day, "with an appropriate song at a price reduced to twenty-five cents." Then it is some crusade for savings banks, life insurance, thrift, against profanity, alcohol, tobacco, or for some civic reform, social panacea, or worthy charity.

Amateurs are not backward in offering "to assist" and in the modest request that other peoples' children be turned over to their well-meant proselytizing and that the freedom of youth be mortgaged with pledges of various sorts. Not all these things are bad but there is an ever-present danger that the good will get in the way of the best. While we are seriously undertaking to cultivate self-reliance and a sense of independent personal duty as the best basis of character, citizenship and patriotism,—along come agitators and organizers wishing to form clubs, knights, scouts, and societies for this, that, and the other, with buttons, badges, banners, meets, and prizes to side-track the energy needed for school duties.

Under the yugum of some fashion or tagging they would supplant self-reliance by a gregarious subordination far removed from the standards of the clan and the gang. From all such, Good Lord deliver us.

At the risk of misunderstanding and misrepresentation our teachers must not abdicate the trust committed to them. Let our critics remember that the schools are burdened by an ever-increasing shirking of parental responsibilities.

Not a few expect the schools to vaccinate, to provide glasses, to provide operations for adenoids, to bathe, to comb, to care for the teeth, and to provide physicians and nurses for childhood's ailments.

The elements of farming, the use of tools, the household arts, once taught in the family as a matter of course, now outcasts are knocking at the school doors. No parent is obliged to teach his child anything about alcohol or tobacco, but by statute the teacher must attend to both. The parent may promote the ice-cream tipping habit but the schools are compelled by law to teach thrift.

If the schools must be the foster-parents of the children of a community they have on their hands a large undertaking. Yet with all its shortcomings the school is the one efficient agent of the public which stands for discipline and the moral habits of punctuality, attention, and industry. It will not suffer by comparison with the family or with other public agencies.

Its line of progress lies in the separation of its special function from that of the parent and the church and in acting well its own part. Differentiation and concentration is our greatest need and it is gratifying to find that the tide is turning that way.

Shoe Aristocracy Banished

The "Goodyear Welt" System of shoemaking machines—sixty of them—which reproduce the handicraft of the old-time shoemaker—has banished shoe aristocracy from the land—driven it out forever.

They have leveled to a common plane the footwear of an entire nation. These marvelous machines—intricate and sensitive—utilize the intelligence of skilled operators in the production of shoes that are durable and comfortable as if hand-sewed, but at only one-third the cost.

shoes for men, women, boys, girls and children are made of solid leather—they must be—of only substantial leather can be worked on these fast operating machines. Five hundred lock-stitches a minute are inserted, close, rapid and strong. Obviously cheap leather or inferior leather cannot withstand the speed of such swift flying needles. Thus "Goodyear Welt" is always a guarantee of solid, real leather. It is your insurance of wearing quality. Even the War Department recognizes it as a feature when it specifies the rapid Goodyear stitching as its standard in shoe contracts for the soldiers.

The feet of the Army are clad in Goodyear Welts. Shoes made by this method can withstand the severest marches. And they afford the greatest comfort. For these wonderful machines stitch the welt inner-sole and upper together in a seam that doesn't penetrate the inside of the shoe. Even the heavy outsole is lock-stitched to this welt with the seam entirely around the outer edge. The shoe is left smooth inside. Comfort is assured the soldier on his longest march.

Get this comfort for yourself. Just send us your name and address. Do it today. It brings you a list of all five hundred different names of Goodyear Welts, the shoes that are real leather and smooth inside. Some are sure to be sold right in your town. Get this list before you buy another pair of shoes. Two booklets will also be sent you free, one graphically describing the sixty machines, the other—"The Secret of The Shoe."

The hearings held this week by the Legislature on the "Real Boston" bill of the Chamber of Commerce have indicated that there is some sentiment in parts of the suburban district for a more logical and representative control of certain metropolitan functions of government. While the arguments presented in opposition to the proposed bill are sound and sensible, the form of the bill is the real point of attack. Every thinking citizen realizes that the future will bring about some centralization of municipal affairs, probably in the fire and police departments where the need is most manifest. There should be then some authoritative and thorough investigation made of the subject and when the proper time arrives there will be an accepted basis of facts upon which to work. This should not be left to an organization like the Boston Chamber of Commerce, which would have, inevitably, a commercial bias, but should be done by an unpaid commission of persons whose opinions would carry weight, and with whose conclusions, a large majority of people would be satisfied.

The approaching spring will undoubtedly bring in its train the usual number of needless and foolish grass and brush fires. A little care by the everyday citizen as to the kind of day of which he allows the small boy to burn up the accumulated rubbish of winter, might reduce the danger and save considerable wear and tear on the men and horses of the fire department. It is also said on good authority that the railroad company can be held legally liable for the fire caused by sparks from its locomotives and residents along its line have a good opportunity, not only to render the city a great service by promptly reporting such fires, but such action, if sufficiently supported, might be a factor in hastening the advent of electricity as motive power.

I print in another column of this issue a few pertinent and sensible extracts from the recent report of the superintendent of schools of Spencer, and which in my opinion have some bearing upon the school situation in this city. Particular attention is invited to the comments on the attempts made to turn the energy of the pupils into other than educational channels, and to the plea to stand against the admission of all kinds of "isms" into the school system. In this respect let me suggest that it might also be well for our school authorities to carefully consider the advisability of cutting out some of the "isms" which have already taken partial root in the curriculum of this city.

HOLY CITY AT NEWTON.

Eliot church was crowded Sunday afternoon to far more than its 1100 seating capacity, attracted by the promised singing of the popular "Holy City" by its chorus choir and quartette under the direction of its conductor and organist Everett E. Truette. It is no more than fair to say that the composer displayed masterly conception in the work before him in his selection of words and thoughts around which he entwined his music. These thoughts demand magnificent choral treatment with almost heavenly melodic opportunities to impress their deep import. In many ways he has tried to meet them but to one of an emotional and somewhat dramatic instinct the features in some features are more or less disappointing although some of his instrumental opportunities, notably the Adoration Intermezzo in the hands of a skillful organist were fully met with novel and bewitching harmony. One of its most melodious and attractive choral features Holy! Holy! the Lord of Hosts, Adoration, sung by quartet and chorus, although beautifully rendered strikes one as a marked use of Gounod's beautiful Sanctus from his St. Cecilia which by the way is one of the finest and most harmonious choruses ever written.

But on the whole it is a meritorious work in many ways and deserves more frequent renditions for its soul-helpful results.

This is the last appearance of Leverett R. Merrill the quartet's basso profundo as he retires to accept a position in the New Old South Church quartet where he joins another graduate of Eliot church quartet Mrs. Frances Duntun Wood Brown recently called to this famous church. That the people appreciate these laudable church efforts to present the works of the Masters is proven by the large audiences that always attend them. This is the last of the season and was a fitting close of a series of works produced such as Rossini's Stabat Mater, Verdi's Requiem, Mendelssohn's Elijah, etc.

WOMEN'S CLUBS NEWS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

With the coming in of April the club season enters upon the last lap, as it were, of its year's work. That this may be the best of all is the desire of all concerned and yet with the many duties which the spring brings it is the natural inclination to let up a little on the outside things. If the attendance begins to fall off it is a sign that the club season is prolonged too late into the spring. This is a question which the Club Editor puts to club workers for their consideration.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. S. D. Whittemore of Lincoln street on Monday afternoon. On Monday afternoon, April 3, the Mothers' Club will meet with Mrs. E. S. Hoyt of 44 Winthrop street, West Newton.

Mrs. Albert Van Wageningen of 150 Woodland road will entertain the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday morning, April 4.

The program for the meeting of the Newton Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon will consist of monologues by Miss Helen Legate.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club will hold its monthly business meeting.

The closing session of the Newton Centre Woman's Club current events class will be held on Thursday morning, April 6, at 10 o'clock.

The Ladies' Home Circle will hold its regular meeting in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, April 6, at 2 P. M. Report of the nominating committee and other business of interest.

The Civil Service Reform Department of the Massachusetts State Federation will hold a meeting in the rooms of the New England Women's Club, 385 Boylston St., Boston, Friday Apr. 7 at 10:15 a. m. This will be a preliminary meeting to consider organizing a study class in Civil Service Reform. Miss George A. Bacon, President of the Federation, will explain the outline of study. Dr. Charles W. Eliot, President of the National Civil Service Reform League, will speak of the value of Civil Service Reform and its interest for women as well as for men. All interested are invited. Mabel Rogers Tabor, chairman.

On Friday Mar. 24 the West Newton Women's Educational Club listened to Mrs. Jessie E. Waterhouse on "The Songs and Lyrics of Ireland." Beginning with the early history of the Irish people and poets Mrs. Waterhouse led her audience down to the present day. Many of the quaint old Irish poems were read. Assisting the speaker was Mrs. A. M. Tewksbury, who sang old ballads and songs, among them being, "Tara's Harp," "Last Rose of Summer," "My Love's an Arbutus," "Rory O'More." The applause they called forth proves that they still hold a warm place in the people's affections. Miss Evangeline Thatcher gave two piano solos "Cantique D'Amour" by Franz Liszt and a paraphrase of "Old Black Joe" both of which were greatly enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the close.

At the meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands on March 27 Mrs. W. E. Birdsall of Newton gave an interesting paper on "The Life of Selma Lagerlof with a review of her 'Gosta Berling's Saga.' Next week the club will meet with Mrs. C. T. Bartlett of Jackson street, Newton Centre, when the study of Mark Twain will be begun. It will also be the monthly business meeting.

Mrs. Emory W. Clark entertained the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. last Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. T. Logan was in charge of the program, the general subject being "Races and Immigration." Several books relating to the subject were reviewed, particular attention being paid to J. H. Steiner's "On the Trail of the Immigrant."

The annual Children's Day of the Waban Woman's Club is always of special interest. This year over a hundred school children enjoyed "An Afternoon with Mother Goose." Under the direction of Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Isola and Mrs. Arnold several familiar "Melodies" were acted in costume. There was Jack Horner eating his Christmas pie as realistically as ever. Mistress Mary watering her garden of human flowers, Little Boopie troubled over her strayed sheep and Little Miss Muffet in a fright over a wonderfully life-like spider. All were accompanied by their respective songs in appropriate setting. "Curley Locks and the Three Bears" and "The Three Little Kittens" followed, well acted and elaborately staged. Afterwards ice cream and cake were served and the children danced informally.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on March 29 Miss Mabel Frost spoke on the activities of the Women's Municipal League of Boston. She said in part that the league was started three years ago by a few women, who hardly dared to offer their help, but who felt that there was a work for women to do in bringing about a better condition of living and better citizenship. The present membership is 1500 with a fee of twenty-five cents. A great many poor women feel a great pride in their membership. Much good has been done in caring for mothers with infants and in teaching mothers how to care for themselves and their children.

However, their greatest work lies in the department for better sanitation. She said that the conditions prevailing in some of the markets in the Jewish quarters were almost beyond belief, decaying refuse inviting disease and death. She also spoke of Boston's many dark alleys and of their uncleanly condition and of there being no adequate means of disposing of cast-off articles. She also referred to the very bad conditions prevailing around Bowdoin square because of the many saloons in that vicinity.

Boston's geographical situation is unfortunate and the coming in of foreigners has been so rapid that it has been difficult to properly care for them. Public sentiment, however, is being awakened.

The League cooperates with other organizations for public welfare, and comes in close touch with the occupants of the tenements teaching cleanly methods by demonstration. They also deal with refractory landlords, urging always better housing conditions.

The address was full of interest and at the close many questions brought additional information.

The West Newton Women's Educational Club held a successful whist at the home of the president, Mrs. F. M. Elwell, on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. L. B. Woodward had the affair in charge and a good sum was realized, which will be used for the purchase of books for the Technical High School.

On Friday, April 7, the club will hold an Easter Sale in the Players' Small Hall. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock.

AMATEUR DRAMATICS.

Members of the Auburndale Improvement Society gave an excellent performance of "The Colonel's Maid," last Monday and Tuesday evenings at Northumbria hall. The cast included Messrs R. J. Sisk, L. S. Walling, T. Chandler, S. W. Rider, H. L. Blackwell, C. W. Blood, and the Misses Margaret E. Goodrich, Ethel Underwood, and Marion Dillingham. Mr. Chas. E. Kennedy was stage manager. Mr. Sisk, Mr. Walling and Mr. Blood, the last taking the part of a Chinaman, were particularly good and the show was said to be the best ever given in Auburndale.

The Boston Edison Co.

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston is changing its entire equipment of horses and wagons, horses and buggies and gasoline cars to Electrics throughout the 550 square miles of its territory. THE ELECTRIC WAGON

Of Light, Easy-running Type will do the delivery work of two single horse wagons. These Wagons are Quick, Efficient and Reliable.

THE ELECTRIC PLEASURE VEHICLE

Has a field never filled by the gasoline car. It is the home car for the family and the business car for city and suburban streets. No cranking—no troublesome machinery. Cleanly, safe, simple.
